CRUISER SINKS TWO ITALIAN DESTROYERS

LONDON, Oct. 15 (AP)—The admiralty reported tonight that the British cruiser Ajax sank two Italian destroyers and crippled a third in two engagements during a recent extensive sweep of the eastern and central Mediterranean by the British fleet.

The Ajax was one of three British cruisers which drove the German pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee into Montevideo in the battle off Uruguay Dec. 13.

The admiralty said the Ajax's fights with the destroyers constituted the main action of the Mediterranean sweep and no contact was made between the main British and Italian forces.

The Ajax is a 6985-ton ship with a main armament of eight 6-inch guns and is commanded by Capt. E. D. B. McCarthy.

REDS RAP NAZI INVASION

MOSCOW, Oct. 15 (AP)—The Soviet government through Tass, its official news agency, declared today it had not received what it considered satisfactory advance information of Germany's plans to send troops into Rumania.

This indication of official Russian reaction to Germany's move through the Balkans to the Black sea took a familiar form, a denial by the official agency of a newspaper dispatch.

The agency published this communique:

"The Danish newspaper Politiken publishes a report of its Berlin correspondent stating:

"The Soviet government was timely informed that German troops would be sent to Rumania and that the Kremlin was informed of the aims and number of troops sent to Rumania."

"Tass is authorized to state that this report of the newspaper Politiken does not correspond to the facts."

RED-TURK WAR PACT SEEN NEAR

BUDAPEST, Oct. 15 (INS)—Renewed reports of heavy Russian trop movements on the Bukovina-Rumanian border have been received in Bucharest, it was learned here today as reports of a Russo-Turkish defense alliance parley spread.

An Associated Press dispatch said Soviet Russia was estimated to have mobilized between 10 and 12 divisions—from 150,000 to 180,000 men—on her frontier with Rumania.—Editor's note.

The Soviet legation in Bucharest admitted the troop movements in Bukovina but assured Rumania reporters they had no aggressive designs.

Soviet military commanders are merely carrying out routine reinforcements of the frontier forces, the legation spokesman said.

Nevertheless, there were persistent reports that the Russians were heavily reinforcing their army and air forces all along the Rumanian border.

REDS POUR IN SUPPLIES

Meanwhile, reports were current here Russia and Turkey were planning an agreement to co-ordinate their policies in the tense Balkan area.

Belief that this accord neared grew as important Turko-Russian diplomatic talks progressed. One of the chief points discussed was the German military infiltration into Rumania.

The new Soviety envoy to Ankara, M. Vinogradvo, was reported in constant consultation with Turkish officials. By next week, it was reported, a full accord will have been reached.

BRITISH QUIT RUMANIA

Meanwhile, with Anglo-Rumanian relations at the breaking point, Budapest heard that all Britons except some members of the legation

First Rift Between Nazis, Reds Presages Real War

This was the first open intimation of a possible schism between Germany and Russia, although foreign observers long have said that ultimately their professed friendship would dissolve and they would fight the "real battle of Europe."

In the first German admission that the German troops had arrived in Rumania, Berlin informed spokesmen said on Oct. 10 powers friendly to the Axis had been notified that others were tofollow.

Up to two days ago, no evident reaction was aroused in Russia by reports that German troops were entering Rumania. Soviet newspapers published only factual accounts of the German march.—Editor's Note.

10 More Ships Canada-Bound

Ten U. S. destroyers apparently were bound for Canada today after steaming through the Cape Cod canal under cover of darkness.

All but two were four-stackers, with flush decks, similar to two flotillas which have already been outfitted at Boston Navy Yard and delivered to Great Britain via Canada in a swap for British island air and naval bases.

The other two were the three-funnelled Stockton and Conner, completed in 1917 and 1918.

The ships had been in Newport for re-conditioning and loading with torpedoes, ammunition and war supplies, and were not expected at the Boston yard.

The transport Crawley, which left Brooklyn with the U. S. S. Twigg, flagship of the flotilla Sept. 20, has been at sea since, evidently waiting to convoy the ships. The Twigg and Philips, which left Brooklyn with it, paused at Newport for loading.

Hitler at Funeral So Berlin Thinks No Raiders Near

BERLIN, Oct. 15 (AP)—Adolf Hitler attended the state funeral of Admiral Adolf von Trotha today. Germans cited this as an indication Berlin is comparatively safe from British air attacks.

Admiral Trotha, 72, died Oct. 11.

Grand Admiral Erich Raeder, commander-in-chief of the German navy, delivered the eulogy. Hitler deposited a wreath as an 19-gun salute was fired. Later he consoled relatives of the admiral.

RAIDS ROUTED AS LONDON DIGS DEAD OUT OF DEBRIS

LONDON, Oct. 15 (AP)—Reverting to mass tactics, German raiders made six thrusts at London today in gradually increasing force, using perhaps 350 planes in all after the fiercest night attack of the war on this capital.

Each of the six raids was reported repulsed before extensive damage could be inflicted on the city, however. Only twice did a small number of planes penetrate the city.

Instead of sending single raiders as yesterday, the Germans dispatched their fighter-bombers in formations and gradually increased the number until in the fourth attack 100 planes were used.

BATTLED BY R. A. F.

The succession of waves was met over the southeast coast by squadron ofter squadron of British fighters.

Nine German planes were shot down up to 5:30 p. m., the air ministry announced, while 10 British fighters were missing.

Nazi planes also were attacking South Wales, the Midlands and the northwest coast.

In the early morning, British long-range guns on the channel coast fired several salvos across the Dover strait. Their shells burst inthe sea, but mist prevented in the sea, but mist prevented from seeing the targets.

By noon, the British were reported to have shot down eight German planes.

AMBUSH INVADERS

One Messerschmitt blew up in a battle near Eltham, in Kent. The pilot was found dead.

In another fight in the clouds over the southeast coast, British fighters ambushed a strong force of German planes, and the hum of engines and rattle of machine gun and cannon fire was heard by the people below. They were unable, however, to see them except once when a raider broke through the clouds and was immediately ringed by aircraft fire.

One fighter dived out of the clouds and dropped a high explosive bomb on a southeast coast town, damaging a few houses but causing no casualties.

It was estimated56 districts in and around the capital were bombed during the night.

CALLED WORST RAID

London newspaper trucks twisting through debris-clogged streets at dawn carried papers whose headlines said:

"London bombing is fiercest yet," . . . "London's worst terror

Survival Is Britain's Aim, Says Churchill

LONDON, Oct. 15 (AP)—Britain must make sure she is going to survive, and convince others of it, before she can declare her war aims, Winston Churchill told the House of Commons today.

So far, the Prime Minister said, only very careful general statements can be put in an official declaration.

"We are not fighting the war merely to maintain the status quo," he said, "but, among other things, in order to survive.

"When our capacity to do that is more generally recognized throughout the world we shall be in a position to take further view of what we shall do when victory has been won."

ON WORLD OPINION

The prime minister said there was "great danger" in making statements not of a very general character, but that world opinion "so far as it was free is thoroughly behind us."

The statement was made in answer to Laborite queries.

Sir Kingsley Wood, chancellor of the exchequer, told his colleagues 40,000 merchants have been registered in connection with the purchase (sales) tax which goes into effect Oct. 21.

Revenue from this tax, Sir Kingsley said, will help indemnify persons who lose furniture, personal clothing and other essentials in bombing raids.

This, he said, is for persons in salary brackets below 400 pounds ($1600). Sir Kingsley said he hoped soon to introduce a voluntary scheme under which the state will insure personal property of all persons above that income bracket.

ACCEPTS DAKAR BLAME

Churchill reiterated his statement of last week when questioned on Dakar affair.

"Apart from technical mishaps," he said, "the government takes full responsibility for the unsuccessful expedition by Britain and Gen. Charles de Gaulle's 'free French' forces in French West Africa.

"Having regard for the difficulty of carrying on the war, I must ask the support of the House for my attitude," Churchill said.

Kennedy Comes Home in Week

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15 (AP)—Secretary Hull said today that Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy probably would return from London within a week or ten days for a visit and consultation.

As far he knew, Hull added, Kennedy will go back to London afterwards.

There have been persistent reports, however, that Ambassador Kennedy would resign after his return here.

State's Draft Machinery Is All Set to Go

Moving speedily and dramatically, Boston and the State reached a historic state of readiness today as police and school officials hastened delivery of draft cards for registration of the Bay State's man power tomorrow.

As 600,000 young men between the ages of 21 and 36 prepared to go to their respective registration stations, city and school authorities joined to make the day a monumental success.

All eligible city of Boston employes and federal employes throughout the country will be given time off tomorrow to register.

Mayor Tobin issued an order to all department heads to allow each man within the conscription age groups half a day to register. More than 1712 employes, including six of the mayor's personal staff, are within the draft ages.

HOLIDAY IN SOME STATES

In some states Governors have proclaimed a full holiday, it was stated in Washington. The national Civil Service Commission, however, has issued an order that all federal workers receive three and one-half hours off to "sign-up" as the law requires.

Boston's mayor also ordered that the United States flag be flown from City Hall, all public buildings, firehouses, schools and playground staffs from sunrise until sunset tomorrow. He urged that business houses similarly display the national colors.

Because 4150 Boston school teachers will assist in the registration here, schools will be closed throughout the day. School holidays have been declared in a number of other Greater Boston communities such as Cambridge, Chelsea, Medford, Malden and Newton, but in many others classes will be held as usual.

N. Y. Broker Kills Self in Blast

NEW YORK, Oct. 15 (AP)—The body of Robert Plaut, 48, a partner in a Wall Street brokerage firm, was found today in his fashionable Fifty-Seventh st. apartment, after an explosion which shattered windows in six apartment houses in the vicinity.

Officers said all the kitchen gas jets were open. Nearly half a ton of debris from the explosion covered the body.

Leon Finkelstein, Plaut's attorney, told police Plaut had suffered financial reverses.

Plaut's wife, who was said to be in Boston today, owns a dress shop in Park ave. He has a son, Robert, and a stepdaughter, Patricia Warren, a dress designer.

Women Asked Not to Copy Wally Hair-Do

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 15 (AP)—Wayne Forrest, who changed the Duchess of Windsor's hair dress by eliminating the part-in-the-middle, advises other women not to copy her coiffure.

"Being a copyist is a waste of time," he declared, "and how can one woman imitate another and come up to the original?

"Every woman should develop her own individual charms."

In eight weeks at Nassau the 23-year-old Forrest not only created a new hair style for the duchess to replace the sleek, tightly-drawn dress that became a world fashion at the time Edward abdicated the British throne—but he also taught a woman to attend to it.

REVERE GAS CO. ROBBED OF $5000

An athletic gunman who vaulted a five-foot partition with a revolver in one hand while an armed companion stood guard behind him, robbed the Beach st., Revere, office of the Suburban Gas and Electric Co. of $5000 today.

Girl clerks in the office said the two men came in just before noon. One stood at the door, the other passed several customers, drew a gun and vaulted into the cashier's booth.

He herded the customers and the two girl clerks—Ellen Cotter and Agnes Butler, both of Revere—into a corner and scooped up two canvas bags, one filled with bills and the other with change.

THREATEN GIRLS

"Be smart and no one will hurt you," he snarled, and leaped back into the main section of the office again. He and the second gunman backed from the building and ran down Beach st.

A customer, Anthony DeFrancesco of Tapley ave., Revere, followed them quickly enough to see them run down Sprague st., then jump into a blue coupe that had been parked there.

DeFrancesco told police he followed the bandit pair to Broadway, Revere, where they made a right turn against a red light in the direction of Lynn. DeFrancesco, however, stopped for the light, he said.

VAULTS OVER PARTITION

So quickly did the holdup occur that 35 other employes of the company—mostly women clerks—in an office behind the tellers' booths did not know what had happened until afterward.

Several of the women told police they saw the man vault over the partition and still did not realize it was a holdup.

Miss Cotter was in such a hysterical condition that a doctor was called to treat her.

Company officials, who estimated the amount of money taken, said it had been awaiting the arrival of an armored truck for transfer to the bank.

The office is the headquarters of the company that services Revere and Winthrop. Beach st. is a main thoroughfare on which pedestrians and motorists were constantly passing.

The athletic gunman wore a green hat and gray suit and was of swarthy complexion. The other man wore a blue suit, police were told.

Judge Reveals How He Ignored Contempt

Judge Henry T. Lummus of the Massachusetts Supreme Court recalled from his bench today that in his first week as a district court justice he had been approached by three persons—a mayor, a banker, and a senator—who wanted to influence his course of action.

"I suppose you could call that contempt of court," he said, "though I never bothered to do anything about it."

Judge Lummus was listening to arguments on a petition for writ of error that would set aside jail sentences handed down by Chief Justice Putnam of Boston municipal court on Police Lieut. Harold J. Watkins, Angelo Berlandi, aide to Mayor Tobin; his brother, Alfred Berlandi, and Carmen Giorando.

All four men were given sentences of varying lengths in jail last July for being in contempt of court by reason of conspiring to blame Giordano for having snatched a handbag from a woman in front of the North Station—when Alfred Berlandi, a decision of the court determined, actually had committed the crime.

Atty. Arthur Bickford, representing Angelo Berlandi, had been arguing his case before Judge Lummus for several hours today, asserting that there was nothing in the evidence to support a finding of conspiracy, when Judge Lummus said:

"During my first week as a district court judge in Lynn three people came to me to influence me.

"First was the then mayor of Lynn, who wanted me to enter into a plan to preserve good order in the city. I have no doubt his intentions were good, but I could not enter into such a plan.

"Then a prominent bank president called me on the phone and asked me to make a certain disposition of a case.

"Finally, a member of the Legislature told me in the lobby that one of his henchmen had been arrested and he wanted to say something in his behalf. I told him I'd have to hear the case first. The man was obviously guilty, but before passing sentence I said aloud:

"'Senator so-and-so wants to say something in this man's behalf.' But all I heard was the patter of heavy footsteps going down the stairs. The Senator preferred to speak only in the lobby.

"Isn't it true that any attempt to influence a judge by any means other than by the introducing of evidence in the courtroom is contempt?

"I don't think it's necessary to constitute a contempt for a judge to be teetering between virtue and corruption."

Following his unusual statement, Judge Lumus said he had no intention of making a finding in the case immediately, that he was simply testing Bickford's arguments.

Old Nickels, Phone Thief, Jailed Again

Johnny Nickels went to jail today for three months protesting that he's always being found guilty in spite of no evidence against him.

Johnny, whose real name is John F. Adams, and who is a college graduate, was before Judge Zottoli on a charge of damaging a telephone coin box.

It was testified he had appeared in a dhone booth of a Park. sq. bus terminal, and shortly afterward the phone went out of order, investigation disclosing thae coin boxes had been plugged.

A phone company official explained the process. A wad of paper is stuffed above the coin return slot to catch and hold nickels throw back to customers who fail to get right numbers.

"I was there," said Johnny, "but nobody saw me plug the box. Those paper napkins they took out of them and the ones they found on me were just some I had to use as a handkerchief. I had a cold."

"The excuse is worse than the offense," commented Judge Zottoli.

The phone man explained.

"He's been known as Johnny Nickels for years. He made a living by going around to the pay stations and fishing the coin return boxes either to plug them or pick up stray nickels left by some patron. He has a regular route and gets thrown out of all the places regularly."

Draft Machinery Ready to Roll

Washington said that reports from all over the nation had assured that the tremendous task of registering 16,500,000 men of draft age would "proceed without a hitch."

There will be approximately a million registrars in 125,000 registration places throughout the nation on hand from the opening hour of 7 a. m. until the last man in line is registered, the major stated.

Officially, the closing hour is set for 9 p. m., but no one waiting to register at that time will be turned away and registration will continue until 2 or 3 a. m. the next day if necessary, he added.

PAPERS ARE DELIVERED

It was for the purpose of lessening congestion in the late afternoon and evening peak hours that Mayor Tobin ordered the time off for Boston employes.

Throughout the city today, and in other communities in the state draft, registration cards, certificates, forms to fill in for reports, and pamphlets to be given each registrant were being distributed by police and election officials.

In Boston, headmasters at 149 schools, as chief registrars, received these deliveries. Material was also delivered to Faneuil Hall and a number of colleges and graduate schools where students will be registered.

Chairman William H. Motley of the Boston Election Commission stressed that extreme care must be taken of all cards and certificates since every one, including those spoiled, must be accounted for in reports.

1000 SWORN IN

Meanwhile, more than 1000 men duly sworn in as local draft board members were holding organization meetings throughout the city and state, following a dramatic meeting with the Governor at the State House.

As an example of the speed with which the patriotic non-salaried citizens were working, several local draft boards had organized 15 minutes after they took the oath of office and heard the Governor's hope and prayer that "the emergency will not get us into war.

The honor of being the first to organize apparently went to Brighton board, No. 37, from Ward 21, which elected Election Commr. Frederic E. Dowling as chairman and T. Robert Sullivan, an insurance broker, as clerk.

While draft board officials of Western Massachusetts prepared for their meeting and oath-taking ceremonies at Springfield tonight, telegrams poured in at selective serivce headquarters here.

They represented the reports of draft boards who had been instructed to report themselves "in a state of readiness" as soon as organization was effected.

Such necessary arrangements included procurement of suitable quarters, the swearing in of sufficient registrars, and the placing of an American flag at each station.

For more than an hour, the Governor and officers of the State staff addressed draft board members from eastern Massachusetts, including judges of the courts and other prominent citizens who jammed Gardner Auditorium of the State House.

Register Even If Not at Home

Tomorrow, national Registration Day, those in the 21-35 age classes required to register under terms of the Selective Service Act may register wherever they are, if they are away from home on business or vacations.

For out-of-towners in this city, registration will be at Faneuil Hall during regular registration hours of 7 a. m. to 9 p. m.

DRUNKENNESS PROBE SOON

Allegations of drunkenness among inmates at the Essex County Industrial Farm will be probed soon by Commr. of Correction Arthur T. Lyman, he said today.

WIDE VARIETY OF DEFERRED CLASSIFICATIONS IN DRAFT

This article, "Your Draft Questionnaire," is the third in the series "R-DAY and YOU!" explaining the Selective Service Act. In previous articles, Registration or "R-Day" was explained, and how each registrant in the 21-35 age groups will receive his serial and order numbers. If you missed these articles you may secure back copies of the papers at the Circulation Dept., 5 Winthrop sq., Boston.

By JAMES DOOLING

Hundreds of those who register tomorrow under the draft law will probably be studying their all-important questionnaires by next week, and they may as well get an idea now how registrants will be classified.

The questionnaire you will receive, after order numbers are established is all-important, because, with the physical examination that follows, the draft board decides whether you are subject to immediate call or are subject to deferment.

Answered questionnaires become a part of the registrant's permanent record. Answers, therefore, should be intelligent, complete, and above, all, truthful. Affidavits or depositions may be necessary with the answered questionnaire. They should be brief and to the point.

FIVE DAYS TO ANSWER

Local draft boards will start mailing out questionnaires according to each man's order number. From 50 to 100 will be mailed out daily by each board in its own area and the recipient has five days to answer his. If he has a valid reason for seeking longer time he must advise his board and explain why.

If a registrant finds he is unable to answer a question, or is doubtful how to answer it, there are advisory boards for the various areas to help him out. His draft board in his local area will tell him what to do.

Questions that may strike you as particularly personal needn't be a source of worry. The law provides that all information of a confidential nature will be kept confidential. That goes for a man's business, his income, his family relations or dependents.

The questionnaire will ask the registrant's physical condition as he knows it—if he has an ailment. He may answer that, knowing that, too, comes under the head of confidential information.

In the matter of dependents, obviously, most registrants will have no trouble at all answering, but there are bound to be other cases where the registrant needs assistance.

TELL THE TRUTH

The best thing for him to do, Selective Service officials advise, is to answer truthfully and completely as he can, and if puzzled go to his draft board officials.

Here authorities stress again the fact that judgment will be exercised and leniency administered in all rulings on dependents. Each case, as in the case of classifying a man through his employment, will be treated on its individual merits, with the avowed aim of causing no hardship for anyone.

Persons who are opposed to war will make their objections known on this questionnaire. The alien will explain his status.

Each questionnaire will cover a number of printed pages and it is impossible to print all the questions here, but a list of the four main classes established by the Selective Service Act will give any registrant an idea of how he may be classified.

CLASSIFICATION

For example, a married man with no children, who is physically unfit, would be in Class IV-F, where a man with six children might be in Class III-A. Here are the classifications:

CLASS I

I-A—Those available and fit for general military service. (From this class, it is predicted, practically all of those inducted for service will be called.)

I-B—Those available, but for physical reasons, fit for limited military service.

I-C—Members of the land or naval forces of the United States.

I-D—Students fit for general military service; available not later than July 1, 1941. (These must be students at a college or university authorized to grant degrees, or at a junior college or other college which grants certificates accepted as credit towards a degree.)

I-E—Students fit for limited military service; available not later than July 1, 1941.

CLASS II

II-A—Men necessary in their civilian activities or business. (The Act provides that no deferment shall be made except on the individual merits of each case and that no occupational groups shall, as such, constitute grounds for deferment. This is a change from the last World War draft law in which those engaged in certain occupations were "exempted." Again, draft board officials will exercise judgment in classifying.)

CLASS III

III-A—Men with dependents. (Whether married, divorced or unmarried. Whether dependents are of his own or other children the registrant has a duty to support, and if the children are under 18. Parents, even foster parents, where there is an obligation, will be considered.

CLASS IV

IV—A—Men who have completed service. (Those who have received honorable discharges from active service or who have been on Officers' Reserve Corps eligible lists on Registration Day or honorably discharged after being on such a list for six years.

IV—B—Officials deferred by law. (Such as the Vice-President, Governors, legislators, cadets in U. S. Coast Guard Academy or in the senior division of the R. O. T. C. or Naval R. O. T. C.)

IV—C—Nondeclarant aliens. (Those who have not filed for first papers or are citizens of the Philippines. Involved cases are referred to the Federal Immigration and Naturalization Service.)

IV—D—Ministers of religion or divinity students.

IV—E—Conscientious objectors. (These may be called for other duties than military service.)

IV—F—Physically, mentally or morally unfit.

(Tomorrow, in the article "Your Quota Is Called," the potential draftee will be told what steps follow from classification to selection.)

11 Draft Questions

Persons of conscript age must be prepared tomorrow to answer these 11 simple questions:

1—Full name.

2—Address (including street number, city or town, county and state).

3—Telephone (if none, say so).

4—Age in years (space provided for date of birth).

5—Place of birth (town or county and state, or country).

6—Country of citizenship.

7—Name of person who will always know your address (for example, mother's name, sister's name).

8—Relationship of that person.

9—Address of that person.

10—Employer's name.

11—Place of employment or business.

In addition, each person to be registered must be prepared to tell his race (such as white, Negro, etc.), his approximate height and weight, the color of his eyes, the color of his hair, and the type of complexion (such as sallow, light, ruddy, freckled, brown or black).

Justices Can't Assist in Draft

Three justices of the State Supreme Judicial Court today notified Governor Saltonstall the Massachusetts' Constitution forbade them from serving on appeal boards under the Selective Service System.

The point raised immediately questioned choice of other judges of superior and district courts to draft board posts and since many of the state's judiciary had been so named, an emergency session of the executive council was called to ask for a ruling.

Justices Fred T. Field, James J. Ronan and Stanley E. Qua served the notice on the governor they were regretful, but unable to serve on the appeal boards because Part 2, Chapter 6, Article 2 of the State Constitution specifically prohibits Supreme Court and Probate Court justices from holding other office.

5 Years, $10,000 For Draft Evader

Maximum penalty of five years' imprisonment or $10,000 fine, or both, is provided for evasion or violation of the selective service law, officials explained today.

The law applies not only to those eligible for enrollment, but to anyone who might be a party to improper or false registration. Violations would be prosecuted in U. S. district court.

LIBERALS IN G.O.P. AID WALSH

Formation of a group described as non-partisan liberal Republicans to work for the re-election of Sen. David I. Walsh was announced today by Wilfred W. Lufkin, Jr., chairman of the group.

Forming a women's auxiliary to the group will be Mrs. James Cunningham Gray, former vice-president of the Women's Republican Club, her daughter, Katherine Cunningham Gray, and others.

Joseph A. Lincoln, former secretary to Joseph E. Warner and B. Loring Young, when they were speakers of the House of Representatives, is assisting Lufkin. Headquarters of the group is at Hotel Lincolnshire.

Meanwhile, campaign rallies of the state Democratic tickets were in full blast today following Atty.-Gen. Paul A. Dever's turn through Waltham, Hudson and Marlboro in his quest for the governoship.

Former Judge Kenneth D. Johnson, who ran for lieutenant-governor on the Republican ticket two years ago, deserted his party in the first of a series of radio campaign speeches in Dever's behalf.

The Republican drive continued, marked by a radio speech by State Treasurer William E. Hurley, who said that Governor Saltonstall's administration had seen the state debt cut in half.

Hub Bail Jumper Held in Maryland

Sought by police for nearly five years as a bond swindler and bail jumper, Samuel Freeman, 44, with many aliases and formerly of Harold st., Roxbury, is under arrest in Baltimore, Boston officials were advised today.

Freeman jumped bail of $15,000 early in January, 1936, on the eve of his trial in Salem Superior Court on indictment charges of larceny and conspiracy to fleece an elderly Newburyport couple of their life savings of $51,000.

With two alleged accomplices, Robert Ames, 37, of Dorchester, and Arthur Erody, 36, of Boston, he was also under indictment for the alleged swindling of a retired Waltham schoolteacher and a Brockton clergyman of thousands of dollars.

The government claims that the trio exchanged spurious royalty deeds to oil fields with Benjamin H. Rogers, 77, retired Newburyport leather dealer, and his wife, Mrs. Edna T. Rogers, 75, for their bonds and securities of a total value of $51,000.

Near Death as Gas Floods Big Family's Home

AL PRIEST, 4 OF KIN FELLED BY FUMES

An accidentally opened gas jet in a kitchen stove came close today to causing death to 13 members of one of Cambridge's largest families. Five were overcome and eight others affected by the fumes.

Al Priest, well-known boxer, and three of his sisters were unconscious when firemen arrived at the home in Andrew st., in response to an alarm by a fourth sister who had collapsed, then revived.

This sister, Madeline, 24, was awakened by a feeling of nausea and groped her way downstairs from a second floor bedroom only to be felled as she reached the dining room.

She lay there for some time, finally regaining consciousness.

Sickened as she was, she succeeded in rousing her father, Frank, 53, who was in a front bedroom, already in a lethargic state.

Between them they got seven others out of their beds and gave the alarm.

In addition to Al, 20, the boxer, these were Florence, 18; Louise, 9, and Caroline, 5.

All were revived. Theatment was given to Madeline and her father and to Quinton, 23; Leonora, 16; Marie, 11; John, 14; William, 7; Edward, 4, and Lucille, 3.

RAF Routs Nazis In New Bombings

raid," . . . "Fiercest night raid of the war."

"Soon we may bomb Berlin by day, too."

It added:

"This is the big plane for the job—a bomber the fighters cannot reach."

The Royal Air Force "effectively bombed" several "important military objectives" in Berlin in addition to striking elsewhere in Germany and German-occupied territory, the air ministry reported.

BLAST NAZI PLANTS

Stettin, seaport for Berlin and one of the chief shipbuilding centers in Germany, was subjected to a particularly effective" bombing a "particularly effective" bombing ministry reported.

Stettin lies on the river Oder, near where it flows into a branch of the Baltic sea. It has extensive oil plants which furnished targets for the wide-ranging British planes.

For nearly an hour and a quarter, the ministry said, RAF bombers swept back and forth over Berlin and its suburbs, seeking out military objectives and hurling high explosives.

Le Havre, on the French coast, was also bombed. Fires and explosions resulted, the ministry asserted.

Weather conditions were unfavorable and some of the British planes were unable to reach their first objectives, the ministry said, so some moved on to the great ports of Hamburg and Emden in Germany and Den Helder in Holland, where they unloaded bombs on the docks, while others attacked railway communications at Goettingen, Lingen and Hanover, besides several factories and airdromes at those points.

At Berlin raiders quickly picked out the large Danzigerstrasse gas works and dropped heavy caliber bombs. The glares of fires reddened the earth, the ministry said.

Other raiders reported they picked out the Tempelhof railway yards near the great Tempelhof airport and laid patterns of bombs across tracks and buildings.

Other sections of the raiding party concentrated on military objectives in the center of the city, dropping tons of high explosive bombs.

The ministry said one direct hit was scored on railway sidings near Lehrter station, not so far from the Brandenburger gate in Berlin.

A joint communique of the air and home security ministries said London and an unidentified town in the midlands bore the brunt of the Nazi night attack.

Almost every kind of bomb was dropped on London, including new projectiles described as a combination of high explosive and incendiary types.

The Germans used light, fast, single motor planes for the raids, striking swiftly in and out of the anti-aircraft shell bursts in the moonlit sky.

The number of casualties was not disclosed, but the government said they were heavier in London and its suburbs than elsewhere. So intense was the attack on the capital that many persons who in the past have ignored the alarm sirens raced to shelter.

MIDLANDS HIT

Night workers caught in the streets hurled themselves into the gutters for scant safety when they heard the scream of falling explosives.

Homes and business buildings in London and the midlands were hit, widening the areas of ruin which large crews of workers have started to clear away.

There were some casualties at a Catholic church and convent where a bomb exploded.

A rescue crew which dug through wreckage for 20 hours found 40 to 50 persons still alive in a basement shelter beneath a block of flats leveled by bombs Sunday night and Monday morning. Uncounted others were killed.

BRITISH NOVELIST DIES

LONDON, Oct. 15 (AP)—The death of Helen de Guerry Simpson, novelist, was announced today. She was 42 years old. Her publications included "Boomerang," published in 1932, which won the James Tait Black memorial prize.

HAS GUNS—Mrs. P. Hal Sims, writer wife of the bridge expert, told New York police she had two pistols she wanted to give to the British. She was summoned for illegal possession of guns. Charge was dismissed.

Milton Over Top In Sallies Drive

Highlighted by the report that Milton had obtained its quota, nearly 200 members of the industry and finance division of the Salvation Army's Greater Boston annual maintenance appeal drive for $200,000 met at the Chamber of Commerce today to plan for new successes.

By obtaining its $1500 quota, Milton joins Hingham, Weymouth, Braintree and Cohasset in the list of over-the-top cities and towns, it was announced by John E. Wilson, head of the business leaders' group, who presided at the meeting.

Capt. Thomas B. Thompson, chaplain of the Charlestown Navy Yard and for many years an ardent worker in Army drives, was the special guest at the meeting. Last week a navy yard collection under his supervision totalled more than $400.

Police Corral Sheep, 3 Lambs

The rodeo unit of the Brighton police station turned its hand from roping stray bulls and steers to rounding up one sheep and three lambs today and found their new quarry just as elusive.

It all came about when ma-ma sheep and her little ones slipped away from Edward Bruce, 21, of Portsmouth, N. H., unloading a consignment of the woolly ones sent to the abattoir by Joseph Cohen of Portsmouth.

Although Bruce did not notice their absence, startled Brighton residents did. Sergt. Walter Brown of Station 14 soon heard the distressing news and off went his crack rodeo team of Patrolmen John Sullivan and James McPhee in their lariat equipped wagon.

Aided by Motorcycle Officer William Crooks the patrolmen corralled ma-ma and her young ones after a 20-minute hunt through the Market and North Beacon streets section.

Passports to Orient Now Banned by U.S.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15 (AP)—The State Department, already busy with arrangements for removing thousands of American nationals from the Orient, clamped down restrictions today to prevent others from going there.

Nothing but a demonstration of urgent reasons, officials said, hereafter will permit the issuance of a passport to the Far East, or any place outside the Western Hemisphere.

The new restrictions were announced as the midnight deadline approached for the embargo which will cut off American iron and steel scrap from Japan.

With some United States citizens already quitting far eastern ports on regular transatlantic liners, the State Department announced last night that three American vessels would be sent to China and Japan to help repatriate about 3000 Americans who want to return home immediately.

Authorities meanwhile prepared to put into effect at midnight tonight the recently proclaimed embargo which prohibits export of iron and steel scrap to any countries outside the Western Hemisphere, except Great Britain.

As the embargo time neared, a detachment of the United States fleet which has been in California waters for overhaul and refit the last two weeks steamed out to sea yesterday to return to Hawaii. Other vessels were expected to replace them at the California bases for overhauls, in line with the policy of keeping the fleet in the Pacific at peak efficiency.

300 More Americans Seek to Quit Orient

SHANGHAI, Oct. 15 (AP)—Three hundred new applications from Americans for transportation home from the Orient were received today, shipping officials said, raising the total to 2800 since the United States State Department's advice to leave the Far East.

These, they said, would fill the three ships the United States is sending here for the exodus and many additional applications are expected.

American organizations are considering plans to advance passage money to those lacking funds.

Traded Destroyer In British Rescue

LONDON, Oct. 15 (INS)—A former United States destroyer now in Britain's Navy fighting the Nazis, made a thrilling rescue of Royal Air Force men shot down at sea, it was revealed by the admiralty today.

The former American warship came upon the fliers after they had been clinging to a collapsible rubber boat for 25 hours.

U. S. WOOS FRIENDSHIP OF SOVIET

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15 (AP)—Definite progress toward more friendly relations between the United States and Soviet Russia—which may play an important role in far-reaching political questions of the future—is being made in almost daily discussions between Constantine Oumansky, the Soviet ambassador, and State Department officials.

Authoritative sources disclosed today that during their recently resumed conversations, Sumner Welles, Undersecretary of State, and Ambassador Oumansky reached agreement on several basic principles involved which have provided a formula for settlement of some of the irritating questions which have created tension between the two nations.

SPECIFIC QUESTIONS

The Soviet ambassador, it was learned, is now discussing settlement of specific questions with the chiefs and experts of interested government divisions, and as quickly as they are disposed of the Welles-Oumansky conversations will be resumed, presumably along broader lines.

Informed officials emphasized that the Welles-Oumansky talks have not involved discussions of the rumored Japanese-Russian non-aggression pact, American interests in the Far East, or other subjects of political character.

They have been confined to economic and commercial questions, designed to improve day-to-day relations, regardless of political considerations of the future.

PACT SEEN PROBABLE

Since Japan joined forces with the German-Italian axis it is reported to have increased its efforts to negotiate a non-aggression pact with the Soviet to protect its northern frontier if and when the Japanese army and navy should move south.

Information reaching Washington forecasts the probability of a pact between Russia and Japan, perhaps in the near future, and officials here emphasize the Welles-Oumansky talks are not a belated attempt to woo the Soviet away from any such projected treaty.

RAF Ace Bags 4 In 10 Minutes

LONDON, Oct. 15 (AP)—The air ministry today credited an unidentified RAF flight lieutenant with bringing down four German Messerschmitt fighter planes in 10 minutes, then going up to bag a fifth three hours later. For this exploit he was awarded a bar to his Distinguished Flying cross, previously won.

The ministry reported the four were downed in an action involving his squadron of Hurricanes with 65 Messerschmitt 109's at 18,000 feet over Kent.

"At once he dived to attack with 10 minutes of fierce fighting following," the ministry said.

"'I saw a bomb being dropped from the first machine,' the lieutenant reported, 'and pieces flew off his wing and he went down in a violent outside spin.'

The three others were shot down in rapid succession, he said, all falling in flames.

Enlistment Deadline Near

Under orders from Washington, tonight at midnight is the deadline for enlistments of men desiring to serve one-year terms in the army.

All recruiting stations in the First Corps area will remain open until that hour, it was announced. After that, the army will be permitted to accept only those men who wish to volunteer for three-year terms.

staff at Bucharest had left Rumania.

The exodus of Britons coincided with reports that German troops were constructing air raid shelters in the Ploesti oil fields in Rumania and that Nazi experts were prospecting for new oil wells in this district.

Three large oil wells near Trahova were reported to have been set on fire.

The official Rumanian Iron Guard newspaper Bunahestire was banned by Premier Gen. Ion Antonescu for six days for publishing "seditious propaganda." The censor was dismissed.

Nazis, Rumans Hint Sabotage in Oil Fires

BUCHAREST, Oct. 15 (AP)—Nazi and Rumanian authorities today investigated possibility of sabotage in a mysterious fire which destroyed three of Rumania's rich oil wells.

The fire, which was controlled after a 3-hour fight yesterday under the direction of German specialists, was ascribed officially to an accident.

The incident emphasized, however, German concern for her vital Rumanian sources of petroleum protection of which was being taken over by Nazi troops streaming in by train and Danube barges.

All installations underground and on the surface were destroyed at the three wells. A fourth was reported damaged.

Nazis Admit 170,000 Troops in Rumania

LONDON, Oct. 15 (INS)—The Daily Express said today in a dispatch from Bucharest that German circles admit 10 divisions of Nazi troops, totalling 170,000 men, are now in Rumania.

Neutral sources estimate that as many as 20 divisions are in Rumania, the Express said.

Stating that a naval mission also is en route to Bucharest from Berlin, the Express Dispatch stated:

"Rumania's navy is not worth considering. Apparently, this is a project to establish a German naval base on the Black sea."

It is reported, the Express added, that U-boats transported in sections down the Danube now are operating in the Black sea, along with 30 fast, modern armed merchantmen.

Three thousand German engineers are fortifying the Black sea port of Galatz with anti-aircraft and coastal guns, according to the Express.

Red Troops Push Into Nazi-Occupied Rumania

LONDON, Oct. 15 (INS)—Soviet Russian troops are reported to have penetrated into German-dominated Rumania, according to a Reuters dispatch from Bucharest today.

Reuters said the Russians crossed the border at Chilea in the Danube Delta region and advanced south as far as Sulina.

The dispatch added the Red army forces were "likely to extend their hold' to the Gheorghe channel, further south.

Reuters said Soviet authorities in Bucharest admitted that 20 Red army divisions were massed beyond the Rumanian border for maneuvers.

Furthermore, said Reuters, Soviet units stationed in the Gulf of Odessa were reported to have received orders to march in the direction of Crimea.

At Moscow the Soviet news agency, Tass, issued an official denial of reports that negotiations are progressing among Britain, Turkey, Russia, Yugoslavia and Greece regarding Germany's eastward expansion. The Russian agency termed such reports a "fantastic invention." — Editor's note.

NAZIS LIST LOSS, TELL SEA GAINS

BERLIN, Oct. 15 (AP)—Raids just off England's shores by little Nazi torpedo boats highlighted a chronicle of naval successes reported by the high command today.

Although British bombers gave Berlin two air raid alarms during the night and crossed paths with Nazi fliers making heavy raids on Britain, the communique stressed Germany's war at sea

Success of British airmen in raids on the French port of Le Havre and in The Netherlands was admitted. The high command said:

"Destruction caused by British bombs in the past few days were especially heavy" and "part of the civil population is without shelter."

Carrying the naval fight to the British channel coast, it said torpedo boat units destroyed two British submarine chasers, two merchant ships and took 40 prisoners.

Four larger merchantmen were reported sunk by submarines and a fifth severely damaged.

One submarine, the communique said, accounted for two tankers totalling 20,000 tons, another sank the British merchantman Devonshire (listed in Lloyd's as of 11,275 tons) and a third sank a 4300 ton ship.

The rain of British explosives loosed on Berlin during the night authorities said, damaged dwellings and a hospital, killing one person and injuring 12

British losses in today's air fights over London are 31 planes while five German planes are missing, it was announced

Italians Claim Naval Victory; 3 Ships Hit

ROME, Oct. 15 (AP)—Italian air squadrons furiously attacked a British convoy apparently engaged in rushing British reinforcements to threatened Egypt, the high command reported today, and succeeded in hitting a cruiser with an aerial torpedo and a transport with a heavy bomb.

Other ships in the convoy were reported damaged.

The British were reported using the flower of their merchant marine in extensive troop movements. Foreign circles heard the giant liner Queen Mary recently was convoyed through the Mediterranean with 15000 troops aboard. The Mauretania also was reported making the trip.

The Italians said the attack was on the same formation which was engaged in a battle with Italian naval and air forces near Malta Saturday.

In that battle the Italians said they sank a 7000-ton cruiser and damaged another cruiser and an aircraft carrier while losing a destroyer and two torpedo boats.

The fact that planes were said by the high command to have taken off from an aircraft carrier to protect the convoy was taken to mean the warship was not put out of action in the Saturday battle.

The British reinforcements were being rushed to the Mediterranean as a new Italian offensive in Egypt was expected to get under way almost any day.

New advance patrol activity was reported in northern Africa. The high command said British patrols were repulsed by Italians east of Sidi Barrani

Finn Pays Back Alimony And Evades Jail Term

With the unpleasant alternative of 30 days in Charles St. Jail facing him, Walter Finn of Brookline, night club employe and judicially-declared "bookie," raised the $200 he owed his divorced wife, it was disclosed today.

Finn, having thus purged himself of contempt of court, was a free man once more, but he must still continue payments of $15 a week to the former Mrs. Rosalind Isadore Finn and their small son.

In probate court yesterday, Finn testified he couldn't pay up because he was out of work, but after hearing evidence, Judge John V. Mahoney decided he was "continuing his occupation" as a bookie and could pay or go to jail.

Protests because State Insurance Commr. Charles F. J. Harrington assigned Oct. 16, draft registration day, for hearings on automobile insurance rates, today resulted in his promise that the hearings will be continued on Oct. 17 at the Public Works Building.

Among the many protestants was Mayor James M. Lynch of Somerville, who pointed out that with most city officials busy with draft registration there would be very few able to enter protests over the rates.

Chaplin's 'Great Dictator' Laugh-Riot at Preview

NEW YORK, Oct. 15 (AP) — Charlie Chaplin's $2,000,000 mockery of Europe's strong arm men, "The Great Dictator," unreeled—to several hundred laughs—at a press preview last night.

The bandy-legged little comic, replete with his traditional mustache, derby and cane, returned to the screen, after four years, as a harried Jewish barber in the totalitarian state of "Tomania."

He also played, with torrents of guttural quasi-German double-talk the part of Adenoid Hynkel, the dictator of "Tomania"—for whom, of course the little Jewish barber eventually is mistaken.

Another familiar character, dubbed Benzino Napolini, was played by Jack Oakie, with many a "That's fine," "a Joost a-minoots," and the other stock gestures of the musical-comedy Italian.

The picture's only introductory qualification was that "any resemblance between the Jewish barber and the dictator, is purely coincidental."—Editor's note.

Chaplin's wife, Paulette Goddard, had the principal supporting role of the little barber's true love.

Chaplin shaves a customer to the rhythm of Brahms' Hungarian dance, plays hob for a while with dozens of storm troopers, eventually lands in a concentration camp and escapes; as the dictator, he does a fantasy bubble dance with a balloon map of the world, and engages in a pie-throwing argument with Napolini over the signing of a treaty.

The picture, which has been in production for two years, runs two hours and a quarter. Virtually the only public incident in connection with its filming was a lawsuit against Life Magazine which started to publish some pictures from it prematurely.

Chaplain has said he received no threats as a result of the picture.

Russell Gets Teaching Job

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 15 (AP)—Bertrand Russell, British philosopher and mathematician whose published views on companionate marriage barred him from a New York college faculty, has been employed as a full-time teacher at the Barnes Foundation here.

Dr. Albert C. Barnes, announcing the appointment today, said Russell had signed a five-year contract effective Jan. 1.

The New York State Supreme Court refused earlier this year to sanction Russell's appointment to the faculty of the College of the City of New York. Justice John E. McGeehan, citing the 68-year-old author's views on sex and morality, termed the appointment an attempt to establish "a chair of indecency at the college."

Russell, now lecturing at Harvard University, will live on a farm in Chester County, Dr. Barnes announced.

Hiram Johnson Will War on Third Term

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15—Sen. Hiram W. Johnson, who led a great progressive Republican revolt to the Democratic standard of Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1932, will make a nation-wide radio broadcast at 10 p. m. (E. S. T.), Friday in opposition to a third term for the President, his office aides announced today.

Sen. Johnson will support Wendell Willkie, Republican national headquarters announced.

Johnson's decision to oppose Mr. Roosevelt's re-election may have profound effect on the nation's Progressives, especially in California, where Johnson has won the Democratic, Republican and Progressive nominations for re-election to the Senate.

Johnson, who supported Mr. Roosevelt vigorously throughout his first term and in turn was supported for re-election in 1934 by the President, broke with the administration over the Supreme Court "packing" bill.

The Roosevelt-Johnson feud broke into the open in August when the President told a press conference that nobody in his wildest dreams could now regard the Senator as either a liberal or a progressive Democrat. Johnson retaliated by charging the President with "the same old purge, the same old sham expression on affection and the same old stiletto."

The decision of Johnson to attack the President's third-term ambitions publicly, pepped up Republican leaders. The GOP will never forget Johnson's influence on either the 1932 election, when Roosevelt won, or on the 1916 elections, when Charles Evans Hughes lost. Hughes, the G. O. P. nominee that year, lost California and the presidency after failing to pay his respects to Johnson when both stopped in the same hotel overnight. Johnson's friends accused Hughes of "slighting" the Californian.

In opposing Mr. Roosevelt, Johnson will keep his record consistent. During the Coolidge Administration, he voted for the La Follette resolution which condemned a third term for any President as a dangerous threat to democracy and American institutions.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

F.D. PLANS 2 TALKS ON POLITICS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15 (AP)—The White House announced today President Roosevelt would make two "outright political" speeches of a half-hour each on Oct. 23 and Oct. 30.

Stephen T. Early, press secretary, said the Democratic national committee had arranged for both addresses and that they probably would be made from the White House.

The first, on Oct. 23, will be from 9:30 to 10 p. m. (E. S. T.), on the occasion of observance of National Youth Day.

The second will be from 10:30 to 11 p. m. (E. S. T.) Oct. 30.

Early said the subject of this address had not been selected. Both speeches will be broadcast nationally.

Tomorrow at 8 a. m. the chief executive will make a seven-minute speech in connection with registration under the conscription act.

Johnson Aid Cheers G. O. P.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15 (INS)—Republican eastern headquarters bubbled with enthusiasm over the announcement today that Sen. Hiram Johnson of California will come out for Wendell Willkie for President.

Rep. Joseph W. Martin, Jr., G. O. P. national chairman, declared in a press interview that Sen. Johnson's opposition to a third term for Roosevelt not only will put "doubtful California" in the Republican column but will have a tremendous effect in creating Willkie votes in every state in the union.

"Everybody knows that Hiram Johnson is a great statesman, that he has battled for progressive legislation over a period of many years," Martin asserted.

The trend everywhere is toward Willkie and away from Roosevelt, Martin contended. He said "this trend began ten days ago" and added that "the people will be surprised at the magnitude of the Willkie victory in November."

Army Housing Snag Scored by Willkie

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 15 (AP)—Wendell L. Willkie renewed his criticism of defense production today by declaring that a "startling and disturbing" delay exists in housing the expanded Army.

"There must always be some delay in procuring a range finder or an electric firing mechanism," he said in a speech prepared for a late morning rally at Rochester, N. Y.

"There should be no delay in procuring a board and a hammer and some nails. This can only be attributed to pitiful inefficiency."

Willkie laughingly told a street corner crowd he is afraid that "America as a baseball nation is on the decline."

He said that of several attempts to hit him with fruit or tomatoes, the number of hits has been few.

Willkie brought up the subject after commenting on a sign which said "Roosevelt is our choice."

"The only arguments I get," he said, "are occasional signs like this, and a few people have thrown things."

The crowd applauded. In a moment, a half dozen persons tore down the sign.

USURPATION OF POWER

Dictatorship, he said, always has come through usurpation of power by manufactured emergencies, the circumvention of the legislature, the capture of the courts."

"That's the road we are on," he added, extemporaneously, "and I'm in favor of getting off that road. Aren't you?"

In his denunciation of the Army housing situation, Willkie said that "once again we are late—terribly late," and called for three steps to get a housing program at full speed:

"First—We must have a complete survey made of the quantities of lumber and other building materials on hand, the places where they were deposited and the facilities for producing additional quantities.

"Second—We should have a conference of the leaders of labor and have them advise of the exact locations of all workers who are skilled in the building trades.

Third—We should then have complete plans ready not only as to where this army housing should be built, but as to the way in which it should be constructed, with full details as to where the money and materials would come from, what routes they should travel and on what dates they should be delivered."

LINDBERGH URGES NEW U.S. LEADERS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15 (AP)—Charging the responsibility to the country's "leaders," Col. Charles A. Lindbergh declared last night that the people of the United States "have been led to debt and weakness, and now we are being led toward war."

The noted aviator in a broadcast address said he was making a "plea for American independence" because it had never been more in jeopardy.

"The entire future of America and of our system of life hangs on the action we take and the judgment we show," he said. "It does not depend upon the outcome of the war in Europe, but upon men, regardless of their party, who will lead us to strength and peace, rather than to weakness and to war."

OMITS PART OF TEXT

In the prepared text of the address this was followed by the words:

"Our vote next month can either bring or avoid a disastrous war for our country. We can either throw the world into chaos or lead it to new heights of civilization.

"Upon the quality and wisdom of the leadership that we choose for our nation in November, upon our Congress, upon our Senate, and upon our President depends the future."

Lindbergh omitted these lines, however, in delivering the speech, although otherwise he followed his prepared text closely. Neither President Roosevelt, Wendell L. Willkie, Republican presidential nominee, nor any other living American was mentioned by name.

DONOVAN TO REPLY

The Mutual Broadcasting Company, whose network carried the address, said Lindbergh had sought time to speak on national defense and that the request had been granted as a public service. The company announced that Col. William J. ("Wild Bill") Donovan would "reply" to Lindbergh in a radio address tonight (at 8:15 p. m. Boston time.)

IN MIDST OF CRISIS

"No one doubts that we are in the midst of a world crisis. No one doubts that our defenses are weak, that our debt is great, that dissatisfaction is rising among us. We do not question the need for rearmament, for reform, for a better economic condition.

"We do question that the men who were unable to foresee these conditions in time to avoid them, who could not foresee the war in time to prepare for it, who refused to believe the reports of rearming abroad when the e was still time to take action, are now competent to carry this nation successfully through a period of great crisis.

STOMACH ULCERS
DUE TO GASTRIC HYPERACIDITY

A D Story, Manchester, N. H., writes: —"I suffered from a gassy stomach for many years and was treated by several doctors but could not get relief. X-Ray examination showed an ulcer due to gastric hyperacidity. A friend asked me to try Von's Tablets. I did, and sure received prompt relief. I didn't lose any time from my work and felt good and gained back the weight lost because of the over-acid stomach condition, and have a good appetite. I think Von's are remarkable for those who suffer from acid stomach trouble." If you suffer from Indigestion, Acid Stomach Ulcers Gastritis, Heartburn, Bloating, Sour Stomach or any other stomach trouble due to gastric hyperacidity, you, too, should try Von's for prompt relief right at home. Epic of News Agency at Paramount, Fenway Thursday

Robinson Stars In Reuter's Film

"The man who made news" well could be the title of "A Dispatch From Reuter's," Edward G. Robinson's new starring picture for Warners' which comes to the Paramount and Fenway screens on Thursday.

It is the story of Paul Julius Reuter, founder of the present official British international news agency, which still bears his name. "According to a Reuter's (British) news dispatch" is a phrase familiar to every newspaper reader the world over.

Because of the nature of the story, and the nature of the man who lived it less than a century ago, it is one of the fastest moving screen plays Robinson ever has done, he says. The character, he adds, is most fascinating.

"A Dispatch From Reuter's" covers the period between 1833 and 1865, jumps from Aachen to Brussels to Paris to London to Crookshaven to New York to Washington, D. C. and back to London again. It presents many characters who not only recorded history but made it — Louis Napoleon, Abraham Lincoln, DeJane, famed editor of the Great London Times, and a dozen others.

The audience is to share in the hilarity when the second feature, "The Villian Still Pursued Her," is unreeled for the Paramount and Fenway management requests that they hiss the villain of this RKO Radio film burlesque of the blood-and-thunder melodrama of the nineties.

Parisian Blonde Stars at Casino

Annette, glittery Parisian blonde, runs away with the spotlight honors in the new Ed Ryan revue at the Casino Theater on Hanover st. this week. Ronnie Johnson and that California Venus, Loye Astrid, also get their share of attention, as does Joe Freed, the lad with the double voice and the clever pantomime. Harry Evanson is another Casino comic whose antics add to the hilarity.

EDWARD G. ROBINSON as Julius Reuter and Edna Best as his wife in "A Dispatch From Reuter's," coming Thursday to the Paramount and Fenway screens.

Laughton to Appear at Keith's

Charles Laughton, who is co-starred with Carole Lombard in Keith Memorial's big attraction, "They Knew What They Wanted," will make two personal appearances on that house's stage tomorrow. You may catch him at 2 and 8:30 p. m.

The star of "Henry VIII," "Mutiny on the Bounty," "Rembrandt," "The Beachcomber" and other film triumphs, is scheduled to arrive here tomorrow morning.

Charles Laughton

For his stage appearances, he is to give excerpts from his characterization of Captain Bligh from "Mutiny on the Bounty," the Gettysburg Address from "Ruggles of Red Gap" and others from "Rembrandt" and "The Beachcomber."

Hinda Packing 'Em In at Old Howard

Hinda Wassau, the incandescent It-Girl of the Old Howard's current "Hindu Belles" burlesquers revue, is again delighting the customers and breaking boxoffice records. She is surrounded by bevies of beauties, the foremost being Jean Carroll, "sunkissed baby" from California; Diane Berton and the Windy City's nightspot pet, Ann Sinclair.

'Turnabout' Tops Bowdoin's Bill

"Turnabout," Hal Roach's production of Thorne Smith's hilarious novel with Carole Landis, Adolphe Menjou and John Hubbard, tops the Bowdoin's new bill continuing through Friday.

On the same program is "The Ramparts We Watch."

COPLEY'S COMEDY PROMISING---PLYMOUTH'S REVUE TOPS

Mady Christians Wins Laurels

By PEGGY DOYLE

The country, in the sweet, old summertime, which captured the imagination of one of Broadway's most brilliant writing teams earlier in the season, is again in full bloom behind local footlights.

Using a soupcon of your own imagination, you can almost get that unmistakable blend of grease-paint and newmown hay in "Return Engagement,' Lawrence Riley's new comedy which gives the rural playhouses the patharrington (this is not a paid advt.).

When "George Washington Slept Here," latest playwrighting chore of George Kaufman and Moss Hart, opened here several weeks ago, some of us were brash enough . . . even before the Broadway premiere, which is set for Friday night . . . to suggest that the boys had better stay out of the country, theatrically speaking.

On the other fist, Mr. Riley and the country are well-met . . . remember Gladys George, currently starring in Wilbur's "Lady in Waiting," and his ingratiating hit comedy, "Personal Appearacen" As time marches on, it would seem we'll never laugh again as heartily as we did the while Miss George's glittery Hollywood Duse mala-propped her way cross-country.

There is some first-rate acting in "Return Engagement," and not to be excluded from this classification is Warren Clarke's Albert who is not wired for sound until a split-second before the final curtain.

Mady Christians, Bert Lytell, Audrey Christie and Leona Powers are starred and there is a large supporting cast including some bright, young people who play summer theater apprentices most acceptibly.

Miss Christians, one of the stage and screen's better actresses, plays the guest-star, attractive, talented but pushing midle-age and beginning to be disturbed about those overprolonged lulls between engagements.

Lytell has the role of her divorced husband, an actor who, in the phase of Broadway's popular Marty Forkins, isn't a bad fellow but is largely Westphalian.

It is quite a jolt to both of them when Lytell is suddenly summoned to Connecticut to substitute as her leading-man in the next week's Stockton Playhouse offering.

That the roles they play are practically carbon-copies of themselves and the "sides" are words the playwright might have taken out of their mouths frequently prove a strain on their well-shellacked savoir-faire. It is a little harder on the leading lady because her ex-husband appears to be falling for the theater's lady "angel" just as she discovers that she has never really fallen out of love with the ham.

Miss Christians makes a nice thing of the guest-star assignment. Lytell's Hollywooden ham just needs a pair of rye-bread bookends. Caryl Smith's little-rich-girl, whose mother has strawhat ambitions for her is a gem. Essex Dane's Mrs. Autubn Hetherington, major domo of the Stockton Playhouse, was good for laughs but it seemed more caricature than characterization.

"Return Engagement," destined for Broadway if it clicks here, may keep that date but it will probably have no happier ending than most blind dates.

HELEN HAYES, who has long desired to play Viola, will portray Shakespeare's tender heroine in "Twelfth Night," which comes to the Colonial next Monday.

'New Pins & Needles' Scores

By JOYCE DANA

With a heil nonny-nonny and a hotsy-totsy hotcha, the "New Pins and Needles" revue at the Plymouth is brighter, smoother, faster, funnier and decidedly more professional than its predecessor from the I. L. G. W. U. For the boys and girls who basted and hemmed and trucked and filed have come of age, and with Harold Rome once more supplying music and lyrics that will keep you in chuckles and whistles 'til comes the next "Pins and Needles," the new show, once you've checked a couple of pet prejudices in your vest pocket, is a smart evening's entertainment.

You may remember that the Labor Stage whipped up their first revue from a couple of left-over cloaks and suits and some talented young people who wanted to act. And that that enterprise flourished even when there were pickets a-picketing. It's still the same hunk of barbed and witty stuff, taking unceremonious, but good-natured gibes at everything from the D. A. R. to that minor Fuehrer, Fritzie Kuhn

Only the pretty "Sunday in the Park" is carried over from the first edition. Now we have—and for top spot in the show—the rhythmic "Mene, Mene, Tekel," with Dorothy Harrison, a dusky gal with a big voice and a big smile, giving out with probably the very best tune Harold Rome ever turned out.

Then there's the "Red Mikado," with threats of a Mussolini Hollywood, and Flea across Yonkers to follow Gilbert and Sullivan's classic picket the production and the Lord High Executioner discovers that the blood of the three little girls from the D. A. R. is pure blue.

The Harmony Boys turn out to be Coggie, Bob and Fritzie, with no resemblance to persons living purely malicious, and it's a show stopper. So, to, is "Bertha the Sewing Machine Girl, or "It's Better With A Union Man."

Millie Weitz is one of the clever young international ladies who takes part, Jean Nicita and Ellie Gerber are others and some perfectly slick comedy is contributed by Harry Clark, Berni Gould and Murray Modick. There are too many of them to mention. But anyway, may they all keep paying dues in two unions for a long, long time.

EVENING AMERICAN, TUESDAY, OCTOBER 15, 1940

LIBERALS BOLT FADING WILLKIE

(Provided by the Democratic National Committee

The reign of terror which always marks the closing weeks of Republican campaigning has failed to halt the parade of progressive Republicans away from the Willkie banner.

Another former G. O. P. Governor to advocate the re-election of President Roosevelt as the safest course for the United States to pursue is Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania, a lifelong crusader against the corrupt Republican plunderbund in the Keystone State. After a call at the White House, he said:

"I came to tell the President that I am for him. He has the training and experience. Without it no man is competent to bring us safely through this growing storm.

"This is no time to put a green hand in charge of the ship. Roosevelt represents our best chance for security and peace. I am a Republican, but I am an American first. After full consideration, I am doing what I believe is best for the United States."

Superman Throws the Bull

Two other former Republican Governors, Chase S. Osborn of Michigan and John G. Winant of New Hampshire, have likewise declared for Roosevelt. They are co-operating with the great crusading Sen. George W. Norris of Nebraska and Sen. Bob LaFollette of Wisconsin in swinging the millions of independent and liberal voters behind the Democratic Presidential ticket. Both Pinchot and Osborn supported Alf Landon in 1936.

Meanwhile, Candidate Willkie has reached down into the G. O. P. cellar and fetched up the odd assortment of Halloween ghosts, witches, bogeymen and goblins which were strung up by the great engineer, Mr. Hoover, in 1932, and again by Alf Landon in 1936, in the effort to terrorize the American electorate. You recall that "Grass would grow in the busy streets" unless Mr. Hoover got four more years. The army of unemployed trampled down the grass pretty well in the first four.

SHAKING PUBLIC CONFIDENCE

Landon centered his fire on the Social Security program and the pay envelope campaign. Now Willkie is the indispensable man. Unless he is elected, banks will topple, government bonds will go to rot, and life insurance won't be worth the paper it is written on. The nominee figures that destroying public confidence will be worth it if he can bludgeon his way into the White House.

Pointing out that U. S. bonds are the safest investment in the world, Sen. Wagner of New York exposed the dishonesty of Willkie's attack on national credit by reciting the facts. He said:

"The average interest rate on U. S. Government bonds has declined from about 3½ to 2½ since 1933, a decline in carrying charges which has largely offset the increase in the principal of the national debt. The same U. S. Government bonds that reached a low of 82 in 1932 (under Hoover) were selling for 111 in September, 1940. In other words, obligations of the U. S. Government payable 10 to 15 years hence are selling at a high premium. These tests conducted on the open market by the financial community itself, are hardly indicative of approaching bankruptcy.

"If the Social Security reserves are not to be invested in U. S. Government bonds, does Mr. Willkie recommend that the workers of their country put their faith in the securities of the Commonwealth and Southern Corporation, which has not paid a dividend on its common stock, and has accumulated arrears exceeding 20 million dollars on its preferred stock since Mr. Willkie became its president in 1933?"

WRONG AGAIN

A campaign of desperation and terror always betrays itself. The Republicans know Willkie has slipped, and they are frantically trying to head off the inevitable. Their latest effort is to knock down the Gallup poll on the strength of which Willkie was nominated at Philadelphia. They have resurrected, as an offset, the Roger C. Dunn survey to prove that Willkie has a commanding lead in electoral votes at the present writing.

Good old Roger, whoever he is, performed the same service for Alf Landon in 1936. He showed that Alf would carry 33 States with 377 electoral votes. Poor F. D. R. was only sure of 12 States. Just to infuse new spirit into the Republicans, it might be well to point out that the average error of Dr. Gallup in 15 key States in 1936 was not 3 or 4 per cent, as he says, but 7½ per cent—all against Roosevelt. Joe Martin will have to shop a bit further for a new Literary Digest poll.

TOWARD WAR— And Unprepared for It!

(Provided by the Republican National Committee)

The American people have had their eyes opened in the last few days by the headlines from Tokyo and Washington.

They are beginning to realize that Mr. Roosevelt's boasted "genius" for handling foreign affairs is leading us closer and closer to war.

Not only is it leading us toward war, but it is leading us toward war while we are still woefully unprepared.

The American people are with both Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Willkie in extending every aid to Britain "short of war." They know that Britain's battle is our battle—that giving whatever material and moral aid we can to her is our best chance of keeping out of war.

But they have just seen Mr. Roosevelt, by ill-advised meddling in the Far East, push and prod Japan into a military alliance with the Axis powers.

Up to recently, the Japanese were playing both ends against the middle—leaning toward the Axis when they saw an advantage in doing so, leaning away when that suited their purpose.

Now they are formally tied up with Britain's enemies. Mr. Roosevelt's foreign policy, in this case, has helped materially to throw the strong Japanese navy and the other Japanese armed forces into the scale against Britain, and incidentally against US.

EXPLOSION ALWAYS POSSIBLE

A master-stroke of statecraft, is it not!

It's true, we believe, that the Japanese Government doesn't want to fight the United States if it can avoid it.

Japan is still busy with China. It hopes to grab off the French and British and Dutch possessions in the Far East, with the oil and rubber and other vital commodities that Japan needs.

But there is always the chance of some explosion out that way—some cocky Jap aviator bombing an American liner—some zealous submarine commander torpedoing an American warship—and if one of those "accidents" should happen, it would be just too bad.

If we do get drawn into this war, whether it is out in the Pacific or elsewhere, what are we going to use to fight with?

We've got a one-ocean Navy. It is adequate to fight in the Pacific while the British navy looks after the Atlantic. But it is unequal to the task of fighting in both oceans, if it ever has to take on that job.

We've got a small—a pathetically small—air force, part of it attached to the Army and part of it to the fleet. We now have less than 750 first-line combat planes. Germany has sent more than that number over London in one evening.

We've got an even smaller mechanized land force. It's short of tanks, short of anti-aircraft batteries, short of big field guns and little field guns and machine guns, short of practically everything a modern army needs.

We've got a National Guard and the prospect of a draft army—which will do much of its training with dummy tanks, dummy guns, and imaginary airplanes.

That's about where our defense stands as of today. Most of our military equipment is "on order," and a lot of it will still be "on order" in 1941, 1942 and 1943.

Two years ago Barney Baruch reported to Mr. Roosevelt:

"You are aware of the condition of the American Navy and Army. Every one knows it except the American people."

We can't conceive that if Mr. Willkie had been in the White House then, he would have neglected that warning. His experience in business and industry has taught him that you can't manufacture national defense overnight.

Nor can we conceive that Mr. Willkie would make the blunder of pushing Japan right into the ranks of the nations arrayed against Britain.

We couldn't conceive of anybody doing it—were it not that it's exactly what has been done.

BLUM, CHAMBERLAIN, ROOSEVELT

Mr. Roosevelt has adroitly sought to cover up our unpreparedness by making "non-political" trips to various arsenals, getting himself photographed in front of big guns, and generally spreading the impression that things are going fine.

It reminds you of the unfortunate Blum in France, who told his countrymen how well prepared they were.

It reminds you of poor old Chamberlain in England, who didn't prepare, and whose country is now paying the bitter price of his neglect.

Yet we are asked to give a Third Term to a President who—with all his power—has fallen down on "preparedness," and who—with all his supposed genius in dealing with other nations—has helped to line up Japan solidly with the dictatorships.

Those are the facts. They're on the record. They can't be refuted by phony photographs or fireside chats. And why we should now give another four years of power to an individual who has blundered so dangerously in both defense and diplomacy doesn't add up.

What does add up is this:

ROOSEVELT+THIRD TERM=WAR

WILLKIE+NATIONAL DEFENSE=PEACE

LONDIE —And Let That Be a Lesson to You!

Too Many Ladies

By Isabel Johnston

IN SIMPLE—and costly green linen, Clotilde lounged back in her cushioned deck chair, all grace and poise. A luxury product, she was bound for Trinidad, the oil fields and a man. From her expensively curled auburn head to her custom-made sandals, she was decorative.

But beneath her feminine charm, Clotilde was a fighter. She had inherited the battling spirit that made her father a power in finance. Like her father, she made plenty of mistakes—but they didn't stop her from keeping on to her goal.

From beneath her fringed lashes, Clotilde appraised the tall, lean, quizzically smiling man in the chair beside her. At thirty, Bruce Wakefield had maturity, humor and success. Clotilde decided he would be useful in her campaign, since he was on a tour of inspection and going to the oil fields, too.

"When we arrive, do you mind if I use you for a rival?" she demanded abruptly with the same candor that made her father's ruthlessness a quality people liked.

"I'll be there two weeks—at your service," he answered quietly without showing a tremor of surprise.

She liked his tact in not asking questions and immediately put all her cards on the table.

"I'm in love with a man who has been spoiled by too many women," she said.

Bruce lifted an eyebrow in answer and Clotilde went on to explain that Ted wasn't a wealthy playboy. He was a ship's purser she'd met on a cruise with her father last year. In his way, Ted was a king in his own right, courted by all the surplus women who were invariably aboard. He was spoiled, yes, but witty and amusing. He and Clotilde had been attracted to each other at once. Through letters and on his leaves in New York, their romance had flourished, but Clotilde had never dared let him know how much she cared.

"With so much romance available," Clotilde summed up, "I knew he would never take any romance or any woman seriously."

The Cast of Characters in "Too Many Ladies"

CLOTILDE, in her quest for a husband, enlists the services of

BRUCE, because, she figures through Bruce she can arouse jealousy in

TED, and induce him to propose.

"You don't seem like a woman to be taken lightly."

"You don't know all the excuses a spoiled man can have for not marrying," Clotilde shut her firm young mouth concisely. "So I had father get him fired!"

At that, Bruce sat up a bit in his chair.

A LONELY MAN

"Then I used my influence with father—and Ted was grateful for it, too—to get him a job as accountant in the oil camp," she explained. "Where there weren't any unmarried women around."

Bruce leaned back his head and laughed heartily.

"I suppose he grew lonely?"

"Frightfully. His letters weren't witty any longer. Just lonely and homesick," she went on, "and just when I thought he was going to wire me to come on and marry him, one of the oil men's wives had an unmarried sister visit her."

He controlled his chuckles sympathetically.

"She won't get him! But it's going to be hard to keep Ted thinking that he is pursuing me," she confessed the weak points in her strategy frankly and then flashed a winning smile at Bruce. "That's where you will be a great help."

To all appearances, her fears were groundless. Ted flew in from the oil camp to welcome Clotilde and her father with flowers on the dock at Trinidad. There wasn't even time to parade Bruce as a conquest. As she sipped a cool drink with Ted at the hotel before going off to dance at one of Trinidad's select clubs, Bruce smiled at her across the floor as if wishing her luck and happiness.

Next morning, Bruce was on the same plane going to the oil camp while Clotilde's father questioned Ted on oil. Bruce managed a brief talk with Clotilde and said all kinds of nice things about Ted. He considered him witty and amusing—and certainly handsome and likeable. Ted noticed it all right. He accused Clotilde of running after Bruce on the voyage down because Bruce had a better job and more money.

"'I don't run after men," Clotilde snapped and then blushed in guilt.

"Anyone can see the fellow's smitten with you," Ted complained.

"He's just a friend, a very good friend," she insisted, glad she had enlisted Bruce's aid in the battle against her rival.

A DANGEROUS REVOLT

The other girl "happened" to be at the landing field as they flew in. Clotilde's meeting with her was a shock. Her rival wasn't the sophisticated young woman she had expected. Ruthie Ames was pitifully young, very much in love with Ted and quite unable to conceal it. In a shy, childish way, she even seemed ready to confide Clotilde herself. She hoped Clotilde would enjoy her visit. With her married sister, she called on Clotilde at the guest house next day and asked naive, awed questions about her cosmetics and where she bought her pretty clothes.

At the dance held in the community clubhouse, Clotilde had to tell Ted to go and dance with Ruth. The child had plenty of partners, but she had a way of looking longingly after Ted as he and Clotilde danced past.

"That kid," said Ted with annoyance and surrendered Clotilde to Bruce reluctantly.

"A girl like you doesn't have to worry about rivals," Bruce congratulated her.

"It's been too easy," said Clotilde, "I'm sorry for that youngster."

"Want me to rush her and heal her broken heart?" he suggested.

"Oh no!" Clotilde said quickly, and then added stiffly, "Not unless you are going to be serious. I don't think an older man should play with the affections of a girl as young and defenseless as she is."

"Good scout." Bruce pressed her to him with a little hug of admiration—and his eyes, too, were admiring and amused.

They danced together in comradely silence—and afterwards Clotilde slipped away to the dressing room to straighten out the confusion of her thoughts. There she found Ruthie weeping. At first, she started to steal away and not let the young girl know she had seen her grief. Then her sympathy got the better of her. She went up to Ruthie and put her hand on the girl's shoulder.

"I'm sorry I came," she said with her usual directness.

"Oh, no," Ruthie raised a tear-stained face. "You're the kind of wife Ted should have. You have poise and sophistication. Your father has money and influence. You could help Ted get ahead. If he married me, he'd stay on here at the oil camp forever. I'd just be a drag on him."

For a moment, Clotilde was silent, realizing that Ted wouldn't get ahead without someone pushing him.

"Isn't there something I can do for you?" she asked, feeling as helpless as Ruthie herself.

"Just let me cry it out. I'll get over it. I'll make myself fall in love with someone else," Ruth sobbed, and Clotilde obeyed her and went away.

TED PROPOSES

Somehow, after that pitiful encounter, Clotilde wanted Bruce and his cool, comradely, mature advice. But it was Ted who met her, all moody jealousy.

"Where have you been?" he demanded, "out in the moonlight with Bruce?"

"No," she answered, "I've been talking with Ruth.

"I hope you didn't believe anything she said," he began indignantly.

"She didn't say much about you," Clotilde cut him short, and then, masking her tones light and teasing, commented, "maybe she isn't as much in love with you as you think."

"No?" Ted swallowed that abruptly. Then dismissing Ruth, he insisted, "but I'm not going on sharing you with that Bruce fellow."

Bruce, tall and detached, was standing not far off. At the sight of him, Ted took Coltilde masterfully by the arm and steered her to a secluded portion of the veranda. At last, after months of pretended indifference and much strategy, the moment she had worked for had arrived. Under the glamorous tropical moon, Ted was going to propose.

Next morning in the drab breakfast room of the guest house, Bruce came over to Clotilde, his face a trifle tired but smiling.

"Everything all right?" he asked.

"All my work was useless," she announced, "I found I didn't love him after all."

A moment of silence said a great many things. Then in the way he had of treating important facts casually, Bruce said simply:

"I'm going back on the same boat with you and your father."

"That's good," Clotilde smiled and without moonlight or glamour or strategy and scheming, she and Bruce understood each other without words.

(You'll enjoy Louis Davidson's story on this page tomorrow. The title is "The Open Door."

Clotilde's meeting with her was a shock. Her rival wasn't the sophisticated young woman she expected.

THE NEW ENGLAND COUNCIL is looking far into the future, beyond the armament orders from Britain and beyond our own national defense program.

Says Richard B. Cross, speaking for the Council's New Products Committee:

"Already we have had considerable discussion concerning what is going to happen to industry at the close of the war or when our preparedness activities taper off."

There cannot be too much talk of this kind.

All previous international conflicts have ended, and the current quarrel will also terminate some day, either through victory or as the result of the exhaustion or ruin of all participants.

When that day comes, the country which has intelligently prepared for the needs and demands of a peaceful world will be the country that will prosper.

Here in New England we have America's best colleges and universities, the continent's finest laboratories and an inexhaustible supply of inventive genius.

If dairy products can be converted into household furniture, automobile bodies, fabrics for wearing apparel and other useful commodities, we can convert them.

If grains can be transformed into gasoline and goldenrod and similar weeds into rubber, we can do that, too.

But first of all we must give the men who are working for the better, happier tomorrow a chance to succeed—at least, the same chance that too many misguided Americans have been giving war mongers in recent months.

THE CHIEF THING that Uncle Sam must outgrow if he is to remain solvent is his habit of lending money to the wide, wide world.

What we actually do is GIVE AWAY billions to nations that cannot or will not return the money.

The latest loan talk concerns $500,000,000 to be distributed throughout South America "for defense."

"For defense"—MAYBE and WHO KNOWS?

Does Congress remember that the Bondholders' Protective Association told the country a year ago that the total outstanding dollar bonds of Latin-American governments, their political subdivisions and government-guaranteed corporations exceeded $1,600,000,000?

And does Congress know that SEVENTY-SEVEN PER CENT of this amount was in complete or partial DEFAULT?

But we are now asked to "lend" these countries $500,000,000 MORE!

How much of it will ever come back?

If precedent means anything, only about TWENTY-THREE PER CENT.

Let us not forget, either, that Europe owes us TWELVE THOUSAND MILLION DOLLARS in loans to pay for a war which was to make "the world safe for democracy," but which only succeeded in making America safe for a perennial "touch."

When her master fell from the Mystic docks in Charlestown Sunday and drowned, Pal swam for more than four hours in icy water in a vain attempt to rescue him.

SWAM FOUR HOURS
In Vain Rescue Attempt

Pal might not be able to win blue ribbons and first prizes in our aristocratic dog shows, where great and mistaken emphasis is placed on blood and breeding.

But, despite her lack of selected ancestors, Pal has an almost human brain which earns her an enduring place in the canine hall of fame.

The story of Pal's loyalty might also interest various dictators and genealogists who favor particular races and pedigrees and scorn everything else.

Mongrel though she is, Pal courageously risked her own life to save the man who had been kind to her.

In a like situation, a beribboned, perfumed hound of noble parentage would have probably sought a warm spot near the fire and fallen asleep.

QUERIES from clients. Q. In case of fire in your house what would you grab first, second and third? A. First, my girl friend's hand; second, an armful of clothes, including my $75 tweed coat; third, the doorknob of the nearest door leading to the street. Q. Do you recall a vaudeville sketch, "Married," played by Homer D. Mason and Marguerite Keeler? A. Yes, sir. As I recall it was about a man and woman who had been married, but couldn't remember how it happened. In fact when they woke up in a hotel room they didn't know each other. Q. What was the best of the automobiles that are no longer maufactured? A. The Stearns Silent Knight. Q. What makes a wife more angry than anything else? A. Why sir, when she calls "dinner is ready and on the table" and her husband delays his coming. Even the best-tempered of wives bite their lips on such occasions.

WHEN a California Indian proposed marriage he proposed to all the females in the family. This often included his mother-in-law. How would you, sir, like to have your wife for a wife and also her three sisters and her mother for wives? . . . Says Marlene Dietrich: "Having a dog around so he'll greet you when you come home is egotistical. I've never had time to waste affection on dogs — There are always people who need it." This has been a tough month for us dog lovers what with both Marlene Dietrich and Arthur "Bugs" Baer hurling cracks at us at the same time.

JOSEPH PULITZER advised the bright young men of his newspaper staff to "put it before them briefly so they will read it, clearly so they will understand it, forcibly so they will appreciate it, picturesquely so they will remember it and above all accurately so they will be guided by its light" . . . In his book "Flying Over Ethiopia," Vittorio Mussolini, describing a bombing plane action against cavalry, wrote: "We arrived upon them unobserved and immediately dropped our explosives. One group of horsemen gave me the impression of a budding rose unfolding as the bomb fell in their midst and blew them up. It was exceptionally good fun."

ELBERT HUBBARD said: "College football bears the same relation to education as bullfighting does to agriculture." . . . In New York, the only ground for divorce is adultery. And in New York, adultery is a criminal offence. However, the men in the divorce cases are never arrested unless they refuse to pay their alimony . . . Italian Foreign Minister Ciano cannot speak German. Nazi Foreign Minister Von Ribbentrop cannot speak Italian. So when these two meet they converse in English.

-:- MY DAY

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 15—I pulled my curtains back early Sunday morning as we were leaving Tucson, and soon afterwards the stars began to fade and the sky turned a delicate pink. Even in the West, the reflection of the sun was seen as it came over the horizon.

I wish it were easier to talk to one's neighbors on a plane, but I find it a little difficult, unless they are sitting in the seat with me. I enjoyed talking to the gentleman who shared my compartment.

I ALSO LIKED chatting for a few minutes with Miss Rosemary Lane, who was across the aisle. She has a nice friendly quality, so that when we landed in Los Angeles I really felt I had made not simply an acquaintance, but a friend.

Sunday was, I think, the most completely lazy day I have spent for a long time. James and I had breakfast in the most leisurely fashion, and then we sat on the roof in the sun until we had lunch.

In the afternoon we drove to Arrowhead Lake, which is some 5000 feet up in the mountains. The pines grow tall and straight around the blue lake and the view of the plains and mountains as you drive up is very impressive.

IT WAS the drive down, however, at sunset time, looking straight toward the West, which was almost breathtaking in its beauty. I do not think the brown hills of California are in themselves very beautiful, but when they are colored by the sunset and turned to a sort of purple and pink, you lose all sense of arid waste lands and think only of the space and color spread out before you.

There is space in this land out here—so much space that you wonder whether man's ingenuity will have to be exercised to bring it all under cultivation to make it serve his will for food and sustenance. At present, there is waste everywhere, but then, we can still afford to be wasteful.

We dined at the Arrowhead Springs Hotel, after a look at a most unique swimming pool, which was very inviting if only we had had time to go swimming. I was very much interested in the hotel, for they tell me it was decorated by my friend, Mrs. Dorothy Draper. She has done some bold and almost startling things.

I'm sure she received her inspiration for the doors from some of the old fashioned iron safes, which I can remember seeing when I was a child. The predominant color is an emerald green, which reappears in many shades and forms in many rooms.

While I feel that her work here is somewhat in the nature of a little boy who is showing off and says: "See what I can do," in a spirit of bravado; still it is charming and restful. The porch, with its light green benches and chairs, is inviting.

GARFIELD MEETS SOCIETY GIRL

By Leonard Lyons

NEW YORK, Oct. 15—At the Stork Club, John Garfield admits to Ted Husing that he's never met a real society girl. "Here's one," says Husing, and introduces him to Betty Lawford, the famed Bathtub Girl of "The Women." Garfield, dancing with Betty, asks: "What does a society girl like you do?" Betty tilts her nose and yawns: "Oh, flit from cocktail party to cocktail party. And what do YOU do?" . . . "In Sweden, at a dinner party, I asked a Nazi official about some comedians I had known in Germany, reported to have been put into concentration camps for joking about Hitler," Victore Borge, the Danish comic, reports at the Castlenolm. "The Nazi said it wasn't true—and that there are no comedians in concentration camps. I asked about Paul Morgan, who died in Dachau. So he said, icily: 'They are either dead or have escaped—but there are no comedians in concentration camps in Germany.'" At 18 Club William Saroyan is asked: "How does one become a writer?" "That," he shrugs, "is like asking me how to become an Armenian."

JANE PICKENS

"I WAS so embarrassed," Jane Pickens tells Eddy Duchin at the Waldorf's Sert Room. "While I was singing my Wagnerian satire in the Wynn show, I noticed, sitting in the second row, my ex-teacher at the Juilliard School of Music. He's the one who used to tell us that Wagner was a genius whose music must not be trifled with. And there he sat—laughing—while I ripped Wagner to shreds" . . . At the Rainbow Room, the show is delayed because the customers at the north side of the room refuse to leave the windows—watching the fire spreading over the East Side. Downstairs, in costume, the dance team of Fernandez & Montes enter a cab, and startle the driver by asking that the cab's top be opened so that Fernandez may remain standing and keep his silk trousers intact . . . "I look bad? That's good," Oscar Levant states at Lindy's, "because I don't feel so good. I'd hate to look well and feel bad."

"I JUST SPOKE to Lion Feuchtwanger," a producer informs at Fefe's Monte Carlo. "He said he's applying for American citizenship on the first day possible. His wife is on her way over here. He's going to Hollywood for a rest, and to finish his newest work, the third volume of 'Josephus'" . . . "When Dudley Digges was hired to replace Berton Churchill," an actor relates at Sardi's, "he told Kaufman and Hart he was taking the role on condition that Churchill could get it back as soon as he recovers—but, unfortunately, Churchill died" . . . "Before the openings of all of Sam Harris' productions," a stage director reports at Toots Shor's, "the feminine lead always poses for a photo on the lap of Sam Roseman, Harris' prop-man. Marilyn Miller, Margaret Sullavan, Mary Boland, Florence Eldridge and others posed with him, and the shows were all hits. But this wasn't done for 'George Washington Slept Here'—and Truex broke his leg and Berton Churchill died. Yesterday Jean Dixon, feminine lead of the show, posed on Roseman's lap."

"FRANK BUCK is going to Minneapolis," a producer reports at Leon and Eddie's, "to testify in a suit brought against the city. Buck will testify as an expert concerning the worth of an animal" . . . "I'm opening in George's act in Buffalo," Mrs. Lois Andrew Jessel affirms at the Beachcombers. "Yes, we're selling our Hollywood house. Why? Well, we've been living in only one of the rooms, and the cats and dogs mess up the other 10 rooms" . . . "Yes," Jessel adds, "and you just can't put all that in a House-for-Sale ad."

BOURNE AND ALL THE FALMOUTHS are New England's current "boom towns", and the few summer cottages which have heating plants could be rented twenty times over . . . (Hundreds of Bostonians own cottages in the section, and it might be worth a trip to the vicinity of Camp Bourne to verify the housing shortage) . . . HOW BROADWAY loves a winner—(bromide)! . . . Young Keenan Wynn, who virtually had to buy his way into a production before his daddy scored a huge hit in "Boys and Girls Together", has been signed to play the leading role in "The White-Haired Boy". (By George Abbott) . . . Mr. Abbott's erstwhile play-reader—Garson Kanin,—who worked for the love of it, upset all local ideas of Hollywood directors . . . He is very modest, articulate and engaging.

SINCE THE YOUNG DIRECTOR'S score of five straight successes in Hollywood, with "They Knew What They Wanted" the latest, a dozen self-appointed Columbuses who "knew him when" have bobbed up in the East . . . The truth is that "Gar" not once received a living wage in the "living theater" . . . At Provincetown, where he clearly evidenced the tremendous talent for acting which makes him an outstanding director—although most fine actors can't direct—Mr. Kanin's salary was $10 a week and his board.

FOUR OR FIVE PRODUCERS and talent-scouts all saw him in a play called "Pie in the Sky." . . . It wasn't until his pal, Sam Levene, won an important part in "Three Men on a Horse" that Garson was cast by Alex Yokel in a bit-part (that of a camera-man which was little more than a "walk-on") . . . Hiring of the new Hollywood wonder-boy was more of a favor to Mr. Levene than recognition of the Kanin talent . . . (Which the role gave him no opportunity to show.)

INCIDENTALLY, A BOSTON REPORTER was interesting the director of "They Knew What They Wanted" with a recital of the plot of a proposed story to be known as "Underground Railway", and based on the newborn industry of landing refugees in America . . . THIS CLEARS THE ROAD for Phil when he plays Boston three or four weeks hence in a Leonard Sillman-Phil Baker production entitled "All is Fun" . . . Clever Imogene Coca, who hardly ever gets a job except when Mr. Sillman is producing, is playing the lead . . . The big news of that show, however, is that Bill Robinson, who is bojangling at The Southland, is to be the star . . . The Southland, with Jacques Renard returning to a Boston bandstand, will change its name to the Versailles and switch to all-white, instead of all-colored revues, beginning Monday next.

MOVIE STARS PLAN STAGE TOUR

By Louella O. Parsons

Ilona Massey

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 15—Well, come next Saturday we will be on our way. Robert Stack, Sabu, Ilona Massey, Brenda Joyce, Binnie Barnes, Mike Frankovich, William Orr and yours truly are going on personals. We open at Loew's State in New York Oct. 24, after a few stop-overs. Sabu is all agog over the premiere of "The Thief of Bagdad" Thursday evening, and tickets are going like hot cakes. When the 16-year-old lad returns from his P. A. tour with me he will start work on Kipling's "Jungle Boy."

Ilona Massey, our beautiful vocalist also has a date with Alexander Korda to be starred in "New Wine."

BRENDA JOYCE

Binnie Barnes is working night and day on "This Thing Called Love" for Columbia, and Harry Cohn is cooperating with us and so is Al Hall, the director, so Binnie can leave Saturday. Mike Frankovich, radio sports commentator, appears with his bride, Brenda Joyce, 20th Century-Fox's pride and joy (and what a darling she is) has big things in store for her. Robert Stack, popular juvenile, goes into the Deanna Durbin picture, "Nice Girl," for Joe Pasternak when he comes home. William Orr, for whom Warners predict big things on the screen, is one of our leading lights.

• • •

LOTS OF CHIT CHAT over the new contract that Gregory La Cava is about to sign with Universal as a producer-director. I will say for Universal they are really doing big things and if they get La Cava in addition to Joe Pasternak, well, they will have some top movies. Gregory's first is to be an original, "Unfinished Business," and whom do you think they are negotiating with for the lead in the La Cava opus—Irene Dunne, no less, and since Irene is a smart gal and knows the value of a La Cava picture, well, it will be news indeed if she doesn't put her name on the dotted line.

• • •

JACKIE COOPER, who went back on the M-G-M lot after an absence of four years to make "Gallant Sons," is going to stay at his old alma mater for a while. He will have his most grown-up role to date in "Ziegfeld Girl" as the wise-cracking brother of Lana Turner and the boy friend of Judy Garland. Of course, Jackie will be Judy's beau during working hours only for everybody knows Bonita Granville is head woman in his life right now. That "Ziegfeld" cast is certainly a romantic one—Lana Turner has eyes only for Tony Martin, Judy Garland's big moment is Dave Rose and John Shelton is playing the field.

• • •

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD: Martha Raye's New York heartbeat is Terry Rose—no relation to Dave Rose, her ex-ht. band; Reginald Gardiner and Mary Parker are really becoming an item; the Darryl Zanucks had a small dinner party honoring the Sidney Kents, and what fun to reminisce with Sidney and Bob Kane over the old days. They were both at Paramount and I was on the Morning Telegraph. We have all been friends for more years than any of us want to tell.

VIRGINIA BRUCE, who is completely well again, looked very pretty; Kay Francis added by Sally Eilers, had a most amusing political discussion; contrary to reports, Johnny Maschio and Connie Moore are not building a nursery. It is only a bar with a nursery motif; George Stone and Mrs. Ernest Truex a Beverly Tropics twosome.

THE WHOLE TOWN is turning out tonight for Jesse Lasky's play, "Quiet, Please," at the Biltmore and it will be a gala evening; Venita Varden Oakie is in the hospital but she's so much better she played hostess to Cupid Ainsworth at a birthday shindig; Mickey Rooney is playing 36 holes of golf daily to keep down his weight—of all things.

THAT WAS Ken Murray with Pat Morison at the Emerald Lodge; the Lyle Talbot-Linda Brent engagement is all off; Virginia Field's heart is in England with Richard Greene, but she has been seeing a few shows with Arthur Drummet.

You Can Be Beautiful

Pore Cream as 'Healer'

By ARLINE GOULD

IF YOU MAKE up your mind . . . that that's for you . . . a firm, finely grained skin whose texture rivals a jasmine petal in fairness . . . and you'll have it in spite of open pores or a naturally coarse skin . . . there's a certain unique cosmetic which is on your side!

It's called a pore cream, and in it are contractile ingredients which act on your pores as a "healer" . . . that is, they cause the pore openings to gradually seal an unnatural wideness, as though in the process of healing!

So it was discovered that because of its indisputable refining action, this pore cream can do wonders in giving a coarse skin, with a tendency toward enlarged pores, a finer-grained surface . . . and it is a process much like creating a new skin, you know, so to it must be devoted a bit more time than to ordinary problems.

You can reach your goal more surely by using the pore cream in the daytime as well as at night . . . for it has all the desirable qualities of a fine foundation cream, and it is thus enabled to work more thoroughly and completely on the pores.

At night, a mere speck of the cream is rubbed into and left on the open pore area, or wherever the skin threatens to develop open pores (this is a marvelous preventive measure, by the way), or wherever the skin seems coarse.

If you'd like to learn all about this remarkable pore cream, for refining coarse skin or open pores, phone Arline Gould, LIBerty 4000, week-days except Saturday, or write, care of the Boston American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Diet and Regain Slim Figure

"How, could I ever have worn that dress?" sighs Mrs. Stout spreading across her ample bosom a relic of her sylphlike days.

Yes, astonishing how much you've gained, Mrs. Stout! But, on a low-calory diet, you could easily melt those extra pounds away.

You little considered the calory content when you took such midday meals as this one: 1 cup creamed salmon on toast (421 calories), ½ cup canned corn (150), 1 slice lemon meringue pie (300). A total of 874 fattening calories!

But must you be a martyr to reduce? Not in the least! It's fun to be calory-wise on lunches like this one: 1 cup cheese souffle (220 calories), ½ cup stewed mushrooms (88), ½ cup lemon jelly (100)—just 408 calories in all!

The trick is to keep your daily intake of calories down to 1200 for a while. In five weeks you'll discard 10 of those unsightly pounds.

What a joy to feel your good looks returning! Our 40-page booklet, Change Your Weight for Beauty's Sake, gives 42 low-calory menus and a calory chart for planning meals.

Popular Recipes Just Now

By MARTHA LEE.

Several readers have written us recently requesting various recipes and we always like to pass the good [illegible] to others who may be interested in these recipes, too.

One lady asked us this morning how to make grape jelly, and this is the recipe we gave her:

GRAPE JELLY

4 cups (2 lbs.) juice
7½ cups (3½ lbs.) sugar
½ bottle fruit pectin

To prepare juice, stem about 3 pounds fully ripe grapes and crush thoroughly. Add ½ cup water, bring to a boil, cover, and simmer 10 minutes. Place fruit in jelly cloth or bag and squeeze out juice (Concord grapes give best color and flavor. If Malagas or other light skinned grapes are used, add 3½ cups grape juice, and add strained juice of 2 medium lemons.) Measure sugar and juice into large saucepan and mix. Bring to a boil over hottest fire and at once add fruit pectin, stirring constantly. Then bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard ½ minute. Remove from fire, skim, pour quickly. Paraffin at once. Makes about 11 glasses (6 fluid ounces each).

There have been requests for Piccalilli, Chili Sauce and Apple Chutney. Perhaps there are other readers who have been looking for these recipes, too.

PICCALILLI

1 peck (12½ lbs.) green tomatoes
1 qt. large gherkins
2 green peppers
4 onions
2 qts. cider vinegar
½ lb. (1 cup) salt
½ lb. (1 cup) sugar
1 tbsp. peppercorns
1 tbsp. celery seed
1 tbsp. mustard seed
1 tsp. whole cloves

Chop the tomatoes gherkins, peppers and onions, mix with the salt and set aside for 12 hours. Drain well, then press to get out all superfluous liquid. Heat the vinegar, sugar and spices, add the chopped vegetables and bring to boiling point. Pack into clean hot jars and seal.

CHILI SAUCE

1 gallon chopped ripe tomatoes
½ cup chopped white onions
½ cup chopped sweet green peppers
½ cup chopped sweet red peppers
1 quart vinegar
5 tsp. salt
½ cup brown sugar
½ tsp. cayenne pepper
1 tsp. nutmeg, grated
2 tsp. ginger
1 tsp. cinnamon
1 tsp. mustard

Peel the tomatoes and onions. Boil all ingredients except the vinegar together for 2 hours. Add the vinegar and cook to desired consistency. Pour into clean hot jars and seal.

APPLE CHUTNEY

12 sour apples
1 minced red pepper
1 cup seeded raisins, chopped
1 pint cider vinegar
¼ cup currant jelly
2 cups sugar
Juice 4 lemons
2 minced green peppers
1 tbsp ground ginger
½ tsp. cayenne
1 tbsp. salt

Pare, core and chop apples. Put the ingredients together in the order given and simmer until thick. Pour into clean hot jars and seal.

LISTEN, WORLD! By Elsie Robinson

HE'S a puzzled young man. Wants to make something of himself, something different. Doesn't believe in "just fooling around." So he's trying to find "a way of life" that'll take him somewhere, make people know he's alive. But what—and how?

"The advice is so contradictory," says he. "One writer tells you to live by 'impulse and instinct' and the next one is strong for 'logic and reason.' Christ said, 'Do unto others as you would have others do unto you.' Nietzsche cries, 'Live dangerously!' Shakespeare wrote, 'To thine own self be true.' And now you say—'Be yourself!' That sounds fine to me, for I'd personally like to be natural and simple, but how can I go about it?

"Does 'being myself' mean that I should obey my own impulses and satisfy my own desires, regardless of others? Does it mean wearing goofy clothes and doing unconventional things and saying anything that pops into my head? I'd surely appreciate your advice.

"Clifford Barton."

THIS QUIZ about "being one's self," Cliff, reminds me of the recipe for Lobster Salad once given by a famous chef. "First," said he, "you must catch your lobster." Which suits your case exactly, and all the other yearners who are scrambling so hard for Self Expression, these days. It's a fine thing to Be Yourself—

BUT BEFORE YOU CAN BE YOURSELF, YOU MUST HAVE A SELF TO BE. BEFORE YOU CAN EXPRESS YOUR INDIVIDUALITY, YOU MUST HAVE ONE TO EXPRESS.

"But everyone has an individuality!" you say.

Guess again! Hardly one person out of a hundred has an individuality . . . a distinct, original Self. Instead, most of us have accumulations of copied mannerisms—borrowed wisecracks second-hand opinions and prejudices—which we call "individuality," but which, actually, has no more distinction than a wad of gum.

The only "individuality" you can depend upon . . . the only "way of life" which will serve you . . . is that which you have slowly created for yourself out of your own daily experience.

"First catch your lobster" . . . first create your Self, then BE THAT SELF. But don't kid yourself that either process will be easy. Individuality is the rarest and costliest treasure in life.

The man who achieves it is bound to be envied, suspected and hated by those who lack the energy or courage to follow his example. He will be lonely and misunderstood. But the pride of Being Himself will be worth it all. His "Way of life" will be glorified—

A glass of hemlock for a Socrates.

A gun for a Lincoln.

A cross for a Christ.

THE GAME OF CHECK

Start Now! WIN $10,000.00 1st Prize

TODAY! Right Now! Start CHECKing your way to a huge prize check—in the new Record-American contest sensation, the Game of CHECK!

Begin with the first two official Check Sheets printed below. See if you can check the right answers to the question-cartoons in these two Check Sheets. Note that each question is followed by four suggested answers. One of those four answers in each case is the correct one—and it's up to you to place a pencil check (✓) in the circle following the answer that's right.

If you CHECK more answers correctly than anyone else in the contest, and submit those answers in accordance with the rules, a First Prize of $10,000.00 is YOURS!

CLIP AND SAVE THESE TWO CHECK SHEETS!

Clip and save the two Check Sheets printed here, filling in your name and address in the spaces provided. Tomorrow, Check Sheet No. 3 will appear. A new Check Sheet will appear each weekday this week until six have appeared, and those six will comprise the First Series.

Each week another series of six Check Sheets will be published in the Record-American. You may follow the contest in either paper.

SEND 10 CENTS IN COIN

With each series of six Check Sheets, the rules require a remittance of 10 cents in coin. This qualifies your answers for a prize, and in return for remittances, contestants will receive a fascinating Quiz Booklet at the conclusion of the contest.

CONTEST EDITOR'S CORNER

Hello folks! While you're having a good time playing the Game of Check, I'm sure you won't object to making some money on the side. Of course $25.00 is chicken-feed compared to the enormous $10,000.00 Fortune that can be yours if you win First Prize in our BIG contest. But during the next week or so, I'm sure $25.00 extra will come in handy. So, why not send in a question or two as material for the Game of Check? If you're paid $25.00 for one question, THAT DOESN'T STOP YOU AT ALL FROM COMPETING FOR THE $10,000.00 PRIZE!

What we're looking for are questions that have PEP and PUNCH and that are UP-TO-DATE. And remember, we don't want soggy, stuffy, bookish questions! Let them be ORIGINAL ! !

Send in your questions to "Cash-for-Questions" Editor, P. O. Box 2097, Boston Record-American, Boston, Mass.

So long 'til tomorrow!

DORCHESTER MAN FIRST TO WIN A $25.00 CHECK!

QUESTION 2B which appears in today's Check Sheet was suggested by Mr. Harry Gold of 98 Ellington Street, Dorchester, Mass., who receives a check for $25.00. Congratulations!

Send in YOUR question for us to use in this Contest. It may bring you a $25.00 award, too.

THE RULES

1—The Boston Record-American GAME OF CHECK is open to all persons living in the New England States. However, no employes of the Boston Record, the Boston American or Sunday Advertiser, members of their families, nor any newspaper dealers and carriers who deliver the Boston Record, the Boston American or Sunday Advertiser, nor any person acting as a proxy for another, nor any person who has won $500 or more in any contest, may win a prize.

2—Beginning Monday, October 14, 1940, a check sheet will be published each weekday in the Boston American and the Boston Record. Each check sheet will contain three cartoon questions. Four and only four suggested answers will be printed under each cartoon question used in the daily Check Sheets. One and only one of these suggested answers is the correct answer to the question appearing above. The six Check Sheets published during each week will constitute a series. There will be fifteen series. Answers to each week's series of cartoon questions should be brought or mailed to the Contest Editor, c/o the Boston Record-American Game of Check, P. O. Box 2337. Answers for each week's series should be submitted within the week after that series appears in the Boston Record and the Boston American.

3—One hundred prizes will be awarded by the Boston Record-American in accordance with the published schedule of prizes, to those 100 contestants who, by their answers, achieve the 100 highest scores. A Check Sheet will not be judged as a unit—each and every question will be judged separately. Thus, a contestant will get credit for each question correctly answered. No contestant may win more than one prize. Neatness does not count. Do not decorate your answers.

4—In case two or more contestants are tied for a certain prize, just what particular prize each contestant may be entitled to will be determined by submitting to each tied contestant a set of tie-breaking questions, and, if necessary, a second, third or fourth set of tie-breaking questions. Prizes will be awarded on the basis of the highest scores achieved by contestants, in accordance with the instructions and scoring regulations governing the solution of such tie-breaking questions. At the discretion of the Boston Record and the Boston American, tied contestants may be required to work the tie-breaking questions, without assistance, in the offices of the Boston Record or the Boston American. In case of final tie, duplicate prizes will be awarded.

5—In order to qualify for a prize, contestants are required to accompany each weekly series of Check Sheets with a remittance of 10c in coin. An individual file will be set up for each qualified contestant and each weekly set of answers duly filed therein. After the contest closes, each individual file will be duly judged.

To those contestants who complete the 15 weekly series of Check Sheets and who in all other ways conform to the rules of the contest, the Boston Record-American will present a special quiz booklet created by Harold Hart, author of the famous quiz volume, "Invitation to Fun."

6—Any person, by entering this contest understands that it is a contest of individual effort, and agrees to abide by and accept as final the decision of the Boston Record-American on all matters affecting this contest, including among others the qualification of contestants, their disqualification at any time before or after January 27th, the closing date, for any cause deemed necessary, the application of the rules, the establishment of time limitations, the judging of answers, the scoring of answers, and the interpretation of such instructions (governing individual questions) as may be announced by the officials of the contest. By entering this contest, participants agree that their answers become the property of the Boston Record-American and will not be returned.

7—Entries that are not signed by name will not be considered eligible for prizes nor will any claims to the ownership of such entries be recognized. Entries which are illegible will not be considered. Not more than one prize will be awarded to members of any one immediate family. The Boston Record-American will not be responsible for entries or communications lost or unduly delayed either from the contestant to the Boston Record-American Contest Editor or from the Boston Record-American to the contestant.

Crop of Thin Babies Seen in War Worry

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

YELLOW SPRINGS, O., Oct. 15—War worries, passed by expectant mothers to their unborn offspring, are threatening the world with a crop of thin babies.

This prospect was brought out by a study of penetrated movements of babies reported by Dr. L. W. Sontag and associates of the Samuel S. Fels Research Institute of Antioch College.

Unborn babies of mothers who worried deeply were much more active than usual. The least active babies were in motion only 7 per cent of the time, compared with 70 per cent for the most active.

Without an exception the more active babies were thin and underweight at birth. Their growth in length was not apparently hampered, but they had burned off their fat.

"Very probably," said Dr. Sontag, "the lowered birth rates reported from many areas during wartime are at least in part due to emotional tension. Maternal fatigue also increases the unborn's activity.

"It will be very interesting to follow the London birth weights this year compared with peacetime figures.

"An unduly active unborn baby may be an undernourished newborn baby in the sense that it has less backing energy stored as fat. It seems possible that in cases of extreme activity, the child might even, like a starving man, convert into energy-foods some of the amino acid supply which should go into the building of muscles, brain and organs, thus creating a much more serious deficiency."

2 N. Y. Girls Fined, Man Sent to Prison

Two upstate New York girls were fined $1 each and given suspended prison sentences and a Buffalo, N. Y., man was fined $1 and sentenced to two years in the federal penitentiary in federal court in Boston today.

Goldia L. Vannetten, 20, of Franksville, was charged with possessing and passing counterfeit money, and Marion L. Colosimo, 26, of Gloversville, was charged with aiding the passing of the money.

Merrell F. Kelley, 29, was charged with both offenses.

AT REDUCED RATES

Reduced rates cut payments on all loans over $100

You can get a personal loan of $20 to $300 at Household Finance at rates substantially below the lawful maximum—if you can repay in small monthly installments.

Payments to fit your purse

You may choose the most convenient repayment plan from the table below. Suppose that you need $100 and you can readily repay $9.75 a month. Your installments will repay a $100 loan in full in twelve months. Or, if you wish smaller payments, as little as $6.41 a month for twenty months will also repay a $100 loan.

See the sample loans and payment plans in the table. (Loans also made in other amounts and for other periods.) Payments in the table repay everything. Household's rate of 2½% per month has long been below the lawful maximum. Now a new reduction has cut Household's rate to 2% per month on that part of your loan in excess of $100.

Simple to borrow

We require no salary or wage assignment, no stocks or bonds. (Loans are made on furniture, car or note. No credit inquiries made of friends or relatives. And you don't have to ask friends or fellow-workers to sign the papers with you.

The temperature hit 76 degrees officially at 12:30 p. m. today, 10 degrees below the all-time record of 86 in 1897.

A drop of at least 31 degrees is expected tonight, according to the weather forecaster at the Federal Building, who said the lowest temperature tonight will be 45 degrees following arrival of a cold front.

Wednesday and Thursday will be much colder in Greater Boston, he said.

How Penn and Cornell Did It: A Suggestion

THE ARMY IS AT HARVARD NEXT Saturday and the Dartmouths are at Yale and I think, on the basis of the quadrangular drubbings they took last week from Cornell, Michigan, Columbia and Penn respectively, they should have some nicely balanced ball games. In fact the total points scored on Oct. 12 against these old-time monopolists (when you and I were young Maggie!) was the astounding and stupendous sum of 141. Imagine that!

AUSTEN LAKE

Things aren't what they uster be either in National economics or on collegiate waffle irons. The big people have been whittled down and the little people have swelled up. So the old college collosi caint never tell no more what week somè varsity midget will turn into a matched set of eleven Gargantuas and chaw 'em like anchovies. Imagine Dartmouth being mangled by a little corn-tassel college like Franklin & Marshall. Why in the dear, dead day when we Lafayetters had so much fuzz on our persons that we went nude to ball games instead of wearing raccoon coats, we used to gnaw F & M like cheese sticks.

This is what happened to those three old autocrats, Harvard, Yale and Princeton. Last year, October 16 to be exact, they formed a unilateral committee to give the game back to the students without any aid from the icemen, coal shovelers and artisan auxiliaries. The purpose was to keep unqualified kids from sneaking in by way of the college ash entrance. And the official communique which announced the formation of a "joint board" mentioned, "strict examination of the sources of financial support for athletes, the outlawing of tramp athletes and disapproval of proselyting . . ."

YET (AND I TRUST THAT COLONEL EGAN of my sister journal will not remind me that I rented out my person in return for cultural advantages) I have always felt that Harvard, Yale, Dartmouth and their Ivy cousins might, without stretching their consciences, adopt the Penn and Cornell scheme of getting football material after they were bounced around for several years by every haystack college on their schedules.

Cornell and Penn stopped taking their lickings lately when twin sets of freshman grizzlies popped up good enough to make the varsity. My Cornell and Penn friends assure me that these "coincidents" were obtained by legitimate means and that when Carl Snavely and Geor.e Munger came to reorganize their football departments, they madtactful and persuasive tours of the chain of Cornell and Penn alumni clubs around the country. And, very soon thereafter the chapters, each and all, stopped giving scholarships to schoolboys of their respective regions on a basis of pure scholarly brilliance and began demanding that each candidate strike a practical balance of brains, brawn and personality. Well what's wrong with that?

So the associated Cornell and Penn clubs ceased feeding their alma mammies with scrawny, myopic types who were gifted in such abstract sciences as differential calculus, but were very wobbly in the knees, and began shipping along kids who had adequate entrance credits, but were noticeably robust through the chest, bony of jaw and famed for their slippery hips.

If a scholarship student could block and tackle or avoid being blocked or tackled, or if he had a nifty straight arm and a pair of piano legs, these were considered no impediments, even if his scholarship was a bit casual. So the kids selected were neither intellectual wizards nor hairy apes with an absence of cultural gloss which made it necessary to smuggle them through the kitchen with a full curriculum in freight-hauling, house-painting or shoe-shining. They were representative boys selected for the best blend of mind and body—or so say my Cornell and Penn friends!

I WISH TO PUT IT UP TO YOU IF there is anything sinister or dangerous to the colleges' morals in this. And if so why is it that a gate to the Harvard yard bears the deathless legend in imperishable granite, "Mens sana in corpore sano," or in simple Saxon-English, "Sound mind or sound body?"

Lately at Princeton, Yale and Harvard the athletic heads, hobbled by academic dictation, have merely maintained a "gates ajar" policy, neither helping nor hindering athletic students. The coaches are denied the privilege of recruiting schoolboys—which is as it should be—and are limited to kneeling down beside their trundle beds and asking Providence for a couple of beefy tackles, and a wagtailing halfback—make it two wagtailing halfbacks—and a center who is smart in the brains.

The academic side has dictated the scholarship policies to its alumni clubs, demanding mental paragons and merely requiring a doctor's certificate that each prodigy is unlikely to come down with galloping gall stones or web-toes or crib-sweats during the next four years. It amounted to proselyting the scholars. And they took the attitude that they are running an educational plant for the Nation's better brains instead of a football circus for the diversion of the people who pay $3.30 to sit on the icy slopes and watch 22 kids wrestle for a hide-bound bladder. Fancy that!

Thus I do not rebuke Cornell and Penn for mingling broad minds with broad shoulders and forming a football team while conforming with the best standards of American youth. I merely mean to suggest an honest means by which Harvard, Yale, Dartmouth, Princeton, and other "unilateral" colleges can match contemporary standards of human muscularity without mantling their cheeks with shame. Still, in suggesting this, I find I have put a headlock on myself. Because if every college did the same thing, the lickings would be about equal. Which wouldn't satisfy the alumni too. Because everybody wants to lick everybody all the time, so that half of the Ivy alumni would always be unhappy every Saturday, because victory on one side begets defeat on the other. And in case of tie games neither side is happy.

IVY SKID MAY CREATE NEW GRID LITTLE THREE

By LAWTON CARVER

The decline of football in the "Big Three"—Yale, Harvard and Princeton—has reached the point where this school has, overwhelmingly, the best team in the league, while Yale has probably the worst eleven it has put on the field in recent history. Yale's unbeaten record today is the only thing that keeps the Big Three from being the laughing stock of the football world.

Athletic Director Ogden Miller revealed late yesterday that Yale will not deviate from its decision that its program despite the impressive 20 to 7 defeat suffered at the hands of Pennsylvania last Saturday, and the reaction here was that the Big Three may get out of the big time entirely in the near future.

HARVARD GOES ALONG

Princeton and Harvard will go along on much the same basis as the Yales, according to past performances.

All this may indicate a significant trend as Athletic Director Miller seems to think, for there has been more de-emphasizing of late than at any time in the past except when infrequently some school let football get completely out of control.

Miller—speaking strictly for Yale

FORGET CORNELL—It's Harvard we want to beat, confides Head Coach Capt. How to pay the new liquor tax and save it, too!

THE NEW liquor tax, levied for national defense, is a good tax. Pay it gladly. But don't let your whiskey budget out a notch—it's unnecessary. Simply switch to M & M—the mild, pleasant whiskey that costs you less, saves you the tax while you pay it. Today's M & M is, in fact, milder and better-tasting than ever before—satin-smooth. Try it.

of course—insisted in a prepared statement that he was not attempting to alibi Yale's swamping against Penn which followed a 19 to 14 defeat suffered against Virginia the week before to start the wolves to hollering. Yale's attitude is to let them holler.

SEES BIG SHAKEUP

Princeton and Harvard may feel the same way about it, although no statement has been read so far to reiterate their stand for football purity in the face of Princeton's 7-to-6 win over weak Vanderbilt and 12-to-6 loss to Navy and Harvard's 13-to-0 win over weak Amherst and 26-to-0 defeat against Michigan.

Where all this will lead not even Mr. Miller can say, but he has a notion that there is a big shakeup coming for some schools.

"College athletics and even school athletics are at a critical stage," he said. "The development of big time football has had repercussions all down the line. Its major contribution for good has been the providing of funds to make athletics possible for all."

This was the substance of his viewpoint.

DECLINE AHEAD

He also expressed the opinion that there would be a decline in the next several years. In any case, Yale will make no attempt to build big time teams by letting the bars down.

Yale, he said, would rely on the law of averages to bring in "a fair amount of material and even competition," which, of course, is in keeping with the program currently in effect.

But it won't work on the big time. Yale's record to date seems to prove it, just as Chicago's did last year.

Why Invite Public At Fancy Admission?

By FRANK FENWAY

It was with difficulty today that we passed up the current brain-teaser of whether the great man from Michigan, Tommy Harmon, is great because of Capt. Evashevsky or, to cut it short, vice versa, in order to dish out a little free advice to the poor old Ivy League.

Now maybe just perhaps the Ivy leaguers would rather we directed our humble efforts to the Harmon, Evashevsky question on the theory that they are neither seeking nor want advice.

Maybe, like Drabo, they want to be left alone.

Well, alone is just exactly where they're going to be left, especially on Saturday afternoons, if they don't hurry up and get themselves some football teams, and that would be a very sad thing.

PUBLIC SHORT CHANGED

As a matter of fact it is a sad thing right now, when you think of the athletic glory that used to be Harvard's, Yale's, Princeton's and Dartmouth's and compare it with the sad state it was in at dusk last Saturday.

Perhaps the Ivy league heads feel that the state of their football fortunes is no ones affair but their own, and that gents like Colonel Dave Egan are low boors for butting into situations that do not concern them.

And they would be exactly right if Harvard footbal was being played solely for the entertainment of Harvard kids or if the other Ivy League teams were being toppled over for the sole edification of their student bodies.

But it so happens that all of these colleges have press agents hired solely for the purpose of luring the public into their stadia to watch their brand of football at $1.10, $2.20 or $3.30 a crack.

Therefore the gents hired by the newspapers to aid the public in getting the most for its money are duty bound to report that these days you have 10 times the chance of getting your dough back in entertainment watching Boston College than you have watching any of the clubs in the Ivy League.

Now this writer, for one, has no axe to grind as far as either Boston College or Harvard is concerned and it makes no difference whatsoever from a sentimental standpoint if Harvard football becomes Haw-haw-vard football.

FANS PROUD OF HARVARD

But from a journalistic standpoint it certainly does, because a good Harvard football team provides thousands of readers of this newspaper with first-class, wholesome entertainment on Saturday afternoon throughout the fall, fills them with a pride in Harvard as a local institution and enables a newspaper something to fill its sports pages with other than guessing which two guys out in Michigan is the better.

Therefore, it is without as much as a begging your pardon gentlemen that we suggest that you go out into the highways and byways, find yourselves a lot of husky kids who are smart and upright and honest, but short of cash, and invite them to go to your schools to play football.

You don't have to load them with spending money, furnish automobiles for their old gents to see the games and enroll them in courses in ice-cream making.

MANY WANT AN EDUCATION

There are thousands of young lads throughout these United States potentially capable of knifing through a line like a Harmon and flipping a pass like an O'Rourke and who desire, and are capable of absorbing, a college education, who would be pleased and proud at the opportunity to wash dishes, tend furnaces and mow lawns in exchange for an Ivy League education.

There isn't a sports writer in Boston who wants, or expects Harvard, or any of its fellow Ivy leaguers to haul in a bunch of lame brains with broad back just to field a top-notch football team.

But, Chrismas, just let those prep and high school kids know that the Harvard, Yale, Dartmouth and Princeton athletic associations will provide them with jobs to take care of their tuition if they are clever with both a history book and a pigskin and in five years at the most the Ivy League would again rate top ranking in the pig-skin parade.

Hamilton Team Enters Hearst Rifle Tourney

Among the latest entries filed for the William Randolph Hearst Citizen Marksmanship Competition being held under the sponsorship of the Boston American-Record is one from the A. P. Gardner Pistol and Rifle Club team of Hamilton.

George Gibney Haraden is secretary of this active shooting organization and he expects his club entry to play an important role in the disposition of the handsome Hearst championship trophy.

NO ENTRY FEE

The Gardner Pistol and Rifle Club takes its place in the entry lists along with the many other prominent marksmanship clubs throughout New England which are taking advantage of the splendid opportunity for increasing efficiency under title conditions presented by the Hearst Rifle shoot.

In answer to several inquiries directed to the rifle editor of these newspapers, let it be repeated that there is no entry fee and no conditions attached to an entry other than that each participant must be a citizen of the United States and must sign a statement to that effect.

OPEN TO EXPERT OR NOVICE

The Hearst Citizen Marksmanship competition is open to all shooters, whether expert or novice. And all are welcome to send along their signed blanks immediately.

The committee supervising details of the competition are putting the finishing touches on them now and all arrangements will shortly be completed and announced through these columns.

Casey Opens Drive To Regain Mat Title

Steve (Crusher) Casey will start a drive to regain the world's heavyweight wrestling crown now held by The Angel when he clashes with Gino Garibaldi in a finish bout at Paul Bowser's opening mat show of the indoor season at the Arena tomorrow night.

Casey has kept in condition rowing and participating in minor bouts. He is confident he will win from the fiery Garibaldi.

In a co-feature, "Man Mountain" Dean will take on Gene Bowman. Dean, like Casey, would like to meet The Angel.

RULES GOVERNING THE FOOTBALL CONTEST

NO. 4

The object of the Daily Record-American Football Contest is to select winners of twenty collegiate football games, to be played each Saturday. Anyone may enter the contest, excepting employes of the Record-American and their families.

The selections are listed on the chart here which is ready to be filled out by the contestant. Simply place an (X) in the space nearest the name of the team you think will win, or if you predict a tie game, place the letter (T) in the spaces nearest the names of the tying teams.

Calculate the AVERAGE score of all competing teams, except those for which you predicted a tie score. Write winners' and losers' average scores in space provided in coupon. Do not write individual scores in spaces, or on the coupon. Indicate average scores only by adding scores of all teams and then divide the total by the number of teams competing.

Only ONE selection may be entered by a contestant. All entries must be in the office of the Record-American not later than Midnight, Friday, the day before the games.

You need not buy a copy of the Record or American to enter this contest. Tracings of the contest form may be made from copies in the public library, or in the Record-American office. Such entries will be acceptable, and given equal consideration with those clipped from these newspapers.

A prize of $100.00 will be awarded the person whose entries contain all selections correct. If more than one person submits perfect solutions $100.00 will be awarded the tieing contestant whose average score tabulations most nearly match with actual average scores of the games. If no perfect list of selections is entered, $50.00 will be awarded to the contestant having the greatest number of selections correct, and should two or more contestants tie for this prize the tieing contestant submitting the most nearly correct average scores will receive the award. A prize of $25.00 will be awarded the person submitting the second largest number of correct selections and should two or more contestants tie for this prize tieing contestant submitting the most nearly correct average scores will receive the prize. Twenty-five awards of $1.00 each will be given the twenty-five contestants whose entries contain in succession, the next largest number of correct selections and whose average scores most nearly match the actual scores of the games.

Winners of each week's contest will be announced on the Saturday following the games. The decision of the judges in all cases shall be final.

Mail all entries to the Record-American Football Contest Editor, P. O. Box 1987, Boston, Mass. In the event of postponement of any of the games, such games will automatically be excluded from the contest. In the event that the planned date of any game scheduled is changed then that game is automatically excluded.

Army to Start Lowell Boy In Harvard Clash

WEST POINT, N. Y., Oct. 15 (AP)—The injury-ridden Army football team, which has not won a "major" game since its 1938 victory over Navy, will unveil its sensational sophomore back, Hank Mazur, against Harvard Saturday, Coach Bill Wood announced.

The 175-pound Lowell, Mass., boy who came to West Point by way of Boston College, is by far the best punter on the Army squad and rivals Johnny Hatch at passing and running. Wood said that Dick Hennessy, sub halfback last year, had recovered from a leg injury and will start Saturday with Mazur, Herschel Jarrell and Ernie White.

"BOSTON AFTER DARK," by George Holland, is a regular feature of the Boston Evening American.

U. S. Mutuel Tax Seen by Swope

NEW YORK, Oct. 15 (INS)—The possibility that the federal government may levy a tax on parimutuel betting, an innovation this season in this state, was raised today by Herbert Bayard Swope, chairman of the New York Racing Commission, in a report to the Legislature.

Swope suggested that if such a tax is levied, the Governor should have the right to reduce the "take" of the various racing associations from the mutuel "handle."

The Swope report showed that with 22 days left in New York's racing season, the fans had wagered $39,748,409 thus far this season in the mutuels. The mutuel "take" was $8,974,840 and the "breakage" in odd pennies split by the tracks and the state totaled $724,979.

B. C. 8TH ON A. P. GRID POLL

The Cornell football team, which has rolled up 79 points in its first two games, rolled up 1396 points today to take first place in the first Associated Press gridiron ranking poll of the 1940 season.

The polished and powerful Ithacans, operating with 10 of last year's regulars and almost all of last year's reserves, drew 90 votes for No. 1 team out of a total of 156 ballots. That gave them a 381-point margin over Texas A. & M., the team which topped the final poll in 1939 and so far, with line-busting John Kimbrough working as well as ever, has won all its games.

B. C. HAS 449 POINTS

The Aggies, with 25 first-place nominations and 1015 points, barely nosed out Michigan and Tommy Harmon, with 26 and 1004. The next four teams also were given front rank on various ballots. Northwestern, upset conqueror of Ohio State, got only one of these, but had sufficient supplementary support for 896 points and fourth place.

Fifth went to Tennessee, matched with Alabama in the game of the week, 7 first-place votes and 772 points; sixth to Notre Dame, 5 and 753, and seventh to Minnesota, 2 and 630.

The first ten was completed by Boston College, so far unbeaten and untied in its second year under Frank Leahy, 449; Pennsylvania, which wrote a new, if unpleasant, chapter into Yale football history with that 50-7 triumph last Saturday, 354 and Stanford, which under Clark Shaughnessy, in his first year away from Chicago, is the only all-winning Pacific Coast team, 267.

SOFTY FOR EAGLES

Of these leaders, only B. C. has an easy assignment Saturday, against Idaho.

Cornell's rating will rise or fall upon its showing against Syracuse, which snapped back to life against New York U. last week end. Texas A. and M. plays Christian in the Southwest Conference, where every game is a battle; Northwestern takes on Wisconsin and its fine fullback, George Paskert; Tennessee, as mentioned, meets Alabama; Notre Dame faces always stubborn Carnegie Tech; Minnesota must watch out for a boomerang in playing Ohio State; Penn goes against Princeton, beaten but not to be understimated, and Stanford meets Washington State in a game that may be decisive in the Coast Conference race.

The rankings (points figured on 9-8-7-6-5-etc. basis, first place votes in parentheses):

FIRST TEN: 1 Cornell (90), 1396 points; 2—Texas A. and M. (25), 1381; 3—Michigan (26), 1004; 4—Northwestern (1), 896; 5—Tennessee, 471, 772; 6—Notre Dame (5), 753; 7—Minnesota (2), 630; 8—Boston College, 449; 9—Pennsylvania, 354; 10—Stanford, 267.

SECOND TEN: 11—Fordham, 196; 12—Clemson, 160; 13—Missouri, 96; 14—Washington State, 94; 15—Southern California, 91; Texas, 90; 17—Ohio State, 82; 18—Washington, 72; 19—Duke, 52; 20—Iowa, 22; Oregon State, 22.

ALSO RAN: Alabama, 17 points; Nebraska, 16, Georgetown and Southern Methodist, 14 each; Rice and Holy Cross, 12 each; Duquesne, 8; Holy Cross and Virginia, 4 each; Michigan State, 2 each; Vanderbilt, 1.

Sox May Buy Louisville Club

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 15 (AP)—The Boston Red Sox of the American League will purchase all stock in the Louisville Club of the American Association or dispose of its present one-third interest at a New York conference today or tomorrow, Bruce Dudley, Louisville executive manager, said last night.

Frank McKinney, Indianapolis banker, and Donie Bush, president of the Louisville Club, own one-third each and Tom Yawkey, Red Sox owner, holds the third share.

Dudley said the three will meet in New York for a definite settlement. He added that Yawkey had expressed willingness to buy the shares of McKinney and Bush at a "satisfactory" price. Otherwise, he said, McKinney and Bush may buy out Yawkey.

Eddie Hurley Race Tomorrow

SALEM, N. H., Oct. 15—An old and valued friend of horse-racing will be remembered by Lou Smith at Rockingham Park tomorrow, when the Eddie Hurley Memorial Purse will feature the mid-week card of races.

Sports columnist of the Boston Daily Record for many years, Hurley fought for the sport when Smith first came to New England. He was convinced that New England was large enough and cosmopolitan enough for another major sport.

He was one of the handful of men who smoothed the path for the pioneer, Lou Smith, and down the years, Smith intends to perpetuate his name.

Touting Stanford For Rose Bowl Game

By Associated Press

Here's the tip-off on how that Minnesota powerhouse is doing—Bennie Bierman didn't bother to scout Ohio State-Northwestern.

Jack Dempsey takes the stump for FDR this week, teeing off in northern New York . . . Not one of the five Philly experts voting in the A. P. national poll this week ranked Penn higher than fourth.

Billy Conn has been offered shots at Red Burman and Lee Savold, but seems to want no part of either . . . Ohio State has turned down a 1941 game with Fordham in New York . . . U. of Miami (Fla.) has three brother acts going full force this year.

• • •

Stanford is a good a long shot for the Rose Bowl as any . . . Seems every time they change coaches they wind up in the bowl . . . Pop Warner took over in 1924 and played Notre Dame next New Year's Day . . . When Tiny Thornhill took charge he wound up his first year in Pasadena . . . (also the next two) . . . What do you say, Mr. Shaughnessy?

Buck Newsom will get more dough than any of the champion Reds. He has a string of theatrical appearances that will put plenty into his kick . . . Everybody in New is tickled to see Rabbit Maranville back in baseball as manager at Springfield, Mass.

• • •

Arriving in Philly, Prof. Pond of Yale said, "We are here to give Penn a good scrap" . . . How about Bo Johnson, Alfred U's back who scored on his own kickoff! He booted the opening kickoff against Hofstra College, picked the ball out of the air on the Hofstra 20 after it had been fumbled, then raced to a touchdown untouched.

We keep hearing a lot about a kid named Jack Taggart of the Wofford College (S. C.) team, who keeps pestering the opposition with air raids . . . Fog was so thick at Virginia, Minn., the other night they had to postpone a game between Junior College teams.

• • •

The Clemson College coaching staff has just signed up for a college pension plan that starts paying dividends at age of 70 . . . The coaches' contracts run for five years . . . and we used to think a coach was optimistic when he brought a house on the campus.

Tartan Grid Prospects At Low Ebb

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 15 (AP)—Eddie Baker, who is serving his first season as Carnegie Tech's head coach, says he doesn't expect the Tartans to win another game this year because of a dearth of manpower.

"At the beginning of the season I figured we'd win two games," he told the weekly meeting of curbstone coaches yesterday. "We have won one, but right now I can't see where we're going to get the other."

Tech had no trouble beating little Geneva College, but was blanked 18-0 by Holy Cross last Saturday. Its future opponents are Notre Dame, Case, Cincinnati U., Pitt, Franklin and Marshal and Duquesne.

"There isn't anything wrong with Tech that about 30 new players won't cure," Baker said, "and if we don't soon get some good men you'll be finding us playing in the same class with Westminster and Grove City (two small western Pennsylvania colleges)."

He described Tech's part in the Holy Cross game thus

"We didn't do anything right and were in the hole most of the time. Our blocking and tackling were anything but blocking and tackling, and when we were offered opportunities our boys were too tired to take advantage of them."

Double Workout For Bruin Squad

HERSHEY, Pa., Oct. 15 (INS)—Another double workout was the lot of the Boston Bruins today who open their exhibition hockey season Saturday night against the Hershey Bears.

The burly Bruins place the accent on youth this year with an entire forward line made up of 'kids' less than voting age. This trio consists of Frank Mario, Alfred Kunkel and Frank Warwick, who worked last year as a unit with the Saskatchewan junior champions.

Mr. BOSTON

By JACK CONWAY

HARRY KELLEY, who cashed in when Fritzie Zivic defeated Hammering Henry Armstrong and Lew Jenkins chilled Lou Ambers, says Al McCoy may beat Billy Conn in their ten-round bout at the Garden on Friday night.

HARRY KELLEY

"Conn is a notoriously slow starter," said Kelley, "and if McCoy gets off in the lead he may never be headed. Al is a good boxer, while he can sock as hard as Conn."

Connie Lynch and his brother Billy, who boxed under the name of Billy Murphy, are coming down from Lowell to root for Conn . . . Conn has a big following among Irish-American fight fans . . . Lou Smith and Mortimer Mahony of Rockingham Park will also be at the ringside when Conn and McCoy sweep into action.

Conn continues to train at Kelley & Hayes' Gym . . . The world's light heavyweight champion has displayed remarkable speed, boxing power and a punch during his workouts . . . Conn brought four sparring partners with him to Boston so that he would have ample targets for his punches.

McCoy will finish his training at Lou Stillman's in New York tomorrow afternoon . . . Tansy Norton, now a boxing promoter in New Bedford, says that if McCoy shows as well against Conn as he did in his Brooklyn open-air bout with Solly Krieger during the past summer that he is a cinch to win.

Frankie Mason says the rush for reservations at the Goodwin Club's Washington st. office indicates there will be a near capacity crowd at the Garden for the Conn-McCoy tussle . . . Boston fans have always supported boxing shows that featured class ring men.

Eddie Hurley Memorial Handicap

THE EDDIE HURLEY Memorial Handicap, a six furlongs affair, will be staged at Rockingham Park tomorrow afternoon as a tribute to the memory of the former Daily Record columnist and turf authority . . . Hurley by his writings did much to make thoroughbred racing popular in New England . . . Young men desiring to become sports writers should study the career of Eddie Hurley . . . The latter made athletics his life work, and was as familiar with baseball, football, track sports and boxing as he was with horse racing.

Few newspapermen are able to turn out as much first class material as Hurley did . . . In the course of his average day, Eddie wrote the feature sports column for the Daily Record, wrote the story of the day's races, handicapped the races for the following day, and kept numerous racing and baseball records . . . Hurley also found time in which to risk a few bobs on the horses he favored . . . Like most other bettors, Eddie usually ended up talking to himself, but he got a thrill out of watching the horses he had wagered on trying to finish in the money.

Hurley was a fireman in his line, and on his day off would attend a sports event . . . Like most other people who have excelled as sports writers, Eddie considered everything outside of his work secondary, with the exception of his family.

The business men's special to Rockingham Park that leaves the North Station at 1 o'clock had 300 customers on its first day . . . It arrived at the track before the second race . . . The regular race specials still leave at 11:45 and at 12 o'clock . . . Long Pass under a smart ride from Jockey C. Jedinski defeated Sundodger with Jockey W. Canning up by coming in on the rail . . . While Sundodger was trying to win by keeping out in the center of the track Long Pass proved that the shortest way home is along the rail.

Ted Atkinson continues to ride well at the 'Rock . . . He won with Star Of Dondra and Liberty Torch yesterday . . . It was the second victory during the meeting for Star Of Dondra and the win price of $13.80 was larger than one would expect under such conditions.

Items From My Private Notebook

MIKE JACOBS of the Twentieth Century Club will be in town to see the Conn-McCoy bout . . . Jacobs already has Conn under contract . . . He will also sign McCoy before the match so that he will have first call on the services of the New England punch flinger if he beats Conn . . . A dozen New York sports writers will come to Boston to see the bout . . . After Fritzie Zivic's surprise victory over Hammering Henry Armstrong, the experts are willing to admit that McCoy may also beat Conn.

Johnny Ray will handle Conn Friday night . . . Ray is a former boxer and has had much to do with the rapid rise of Conn . . . If Conn wins from McCoy, he will engage in three or four more bouts during the indoor season so that he will be in the best possible condition when he collides with Joe Louis in New York next June.

Jim Thorpe Says Eddie Mahan Best of All Football Heroes

NEW YORK, Oct. 15 (INS)—The big fellow in the rumpled brown suit shifted his huge bulk into a more comfortable position. He shook his head moodily.

"No, sir," he was saying, "I don't want any of my children to start playing football, college or any other kind. It's too tough a proposition, and besides, there's no future in it. It never got me anywhere."

Jim Thorpe—all-around athlete par excellence—was reciting. All-American halfback for three seasons, the Indian immortal today wants no part of that pastime.

"Of course," he continued, "if my kids—I've got four between the ages of 3 and 13—decide that they want to play football, I'll do nothing to stop them. But I'd much prefer them to concentrate on baseball, or on track and field events. They're not so dangerous, and there's more chance of making a decent living from them."

PLEASANT MEMORIES

Mellow and contented after a rich life, Thorpe views the future with calm detachment. He is a lecturer now, doing his bit to "toughen up" America by swerving the spotlight on physical preparedness.

"I've had quite a career at that," he said. "I guess I've hit the top and bottom, too, more than once. But I have a lot of pleasant memories of my experiences.

"The best year I ever had? Why, I guess that would be 1912. That was the year we had such a good football team at Carlisle, and the year I won all those medals at the Olympics in Stockholm. They took them away from me later, you know, when somebody discovered I once accepted a few dollars for playing semi-pro baseball.

MAHAN BEST

"The best football player I ever saw? That one's easy. He was Harvard's Eddie Mahan. That boy could do anything on a football field, and do it well. Bill Hollenback of Pennsylvania was another player with plenty of stuff.

"My best game? Well, I was pretty hot the day we licked Army, 27-6, but my favorite game was the Harvard-Carlisle game in 1911. We won, 8-15, and I scored all the points. I had to kick four field goals that day to do it."

The loss of his Olympic stripes brings no twinges of regret to Thorpe, who well understands that the verdict of time has made the holier-than-thou attitude of the amateur tycoons of that era seem slightly ludicrous.

WANTS OLD MEDALS

"Tell you something," said Thorpe. "I'd like to get those medals back if I could. Bill Corum wrote something along those lines last winter, and I certainly appreciated the boost.

"I didn't give a hang when they took them away from me, but now I wish I had them to show to my children. And the youngsters who attend my lectures would also get a kick out of them."

Redskins Near 3 New Records

NEW YORK, Oct. 15 (INS)—The National Professional Football League will have to get a new record book if the undefeated Washington Redskins keep up their stellar style of play throughout the remainder of the season.

Today, after five weeks of 1940 play, the Marshallmen are threatening to break no less than three of the league's all-time offensive records.

Statistics showed that the Redskins are two completions a game superior and one per cent more efficient in forward passing and one point better in scoring than the loop's records, established a year ago.

Thanks to the aerial accuracy of Slingin' Sammy Baugh and Flingin' Frank Filchok, Washington has completed 53 passes in 89 heaves for the amazing total of 59 per cent.

Philadelphia, Cleveland and Green Bay also are threatening the standard of 127 completions in an 11-game schedule.

HAPPY DAD—Bob Wholey, noted jockey, waves as he enters Faulkner Hospital to see Mrs. Wholey and their brand new daughter today. Mrs. Wholey is a daughter of John J. Curley, brother of former Gov. Curley. Mrs. Wholey also is one of five sisters, each of whom married and maintained the family girl tradition by having daughter.

N. Y. Probes Barba's Death

JAMAICA, N. Y., Oct. 15 (INS)—An investigation into the death of Jockey Johnny Barba following a fall in the sixth race at Jamaica Monday of last week was opened today by Dist. Atty. Charles Sullivan of Queens County.

All jockeys, stewards and the starter were summoned to report for a hearing in Sullivan's office. The stewards last week exonerated Don Meade, into whose mount Barba had crashed aboard Canape. The jockey never regained consciousness and died from a brain lesion.

A.L. TO CUT BROWNS' NIGHT LIST

CHICAGO, Oct. 15 (AP)—Pres. Will Harridge of the American League expressed doubt today that the St. Louis Browns would be allowed to play 14 night games next season.

The Browns were allocated 14 last season by special permission of the other club owners, although the rules permit only seven games.

"We wanted to do something to give them a lift this year," Harridge explained, "but I believe it is the desire of our club owners to keep the night game in the guise of a novelty."

Even with 14 night games the Browns drew only 239,591 paid spectators, a poor last in the league which set a new season's total attendance mark of 5,433,7991.

This aggregate was 1,163,189 above the 1939 attendance and was 1,078,352 more than the previous record set in 1924.

Detroit led with a total of 1,112,693 spectators, followed by New York, 988,975; Cleveland, 902,576; Boston, 716,234; Chicago, 660,336; Philadelphia, 432,145; Washington, 381,241, and St. Louis.

Honor Howard At Watertown

Tonight will be known as "Dutchy" Howard night in Watertown when a monster testimonial will be tendered the popular local men in a floodlight game between the Newton Redskins and the Middlesex A. A., two bitter rivals for top honors in the Bay State Football League.

The game is being sponsored by the Watertown Post of the American Legion in conjunction with the Middlesex A. A. and an active committee has lined up a program of entertainment which is sure to hold the attention of the fans from start to finish.

BUFFALO NIGHT GO NEXT FOR BEARS

EN ROUTE TO BUFFALO, Oct. 15—Boston's surprising Bears with two straight victories to their credit, have every intention of moving right in on the American League leaders tomorrow night by coming up with a victory over the Indians at Buffalo.

Having left Boston early this morning in order to get into Buffalo tonight and be well rested for the Indian clash, Coach Eddie Casey believes that he will have his squad in top shape with the minor bruises that many of the regulars received last Sunday completely gone.

If the club is ready and comes up with a victory, it will put the Bears right in the running. Right at present they are in third place with two victories an one loss. Milwaukee is leading the loop with three wins and Columbus is in second place with one defeat in four starts.

Tomorrow night Columbus and Milwaukee clash while the Bears face the Indians. If the Bears win they figure to move up. A Milwaukee win would put the Boston eleven in second place while a Columbus triumph would deadlock the Bears for second place.

Because of this situation Coach Eddie Casey plans to throw everything he has against the Indians. The veteran Boston mentor has not had the Indians scouted and is planning a wide open offense with the idea of outscoring the home club.

He will depend largely on the pitching arm of Andy Karpus who hit six out of 11 passes last Sunday against the Yankees that produced 130 yards. If Karpus can continue that flinging and little Morrie Kohler duplicates his running of last Sunday, the Bears have every reason to believe that they can upset the Indians.

Touch Football Too Rough for Kentucky Boys

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 15 (AP)—Touch football—that supposedly gentle offspring of the knock-down drag-out regular variety—is taboo at the University of Kentucky because it is too rough.

Instead of tackling, touch football players merely "tag" the runner and he must stop.

But, says C. Hakensmith, head of intramural sports, who eliminated the game, more participants have been injured than in regular football. Some even required hospitalization.

Most injuries resulted from falls by ball carriers. And then, the "tag" sometimes developed into a haymaker swing with enough power to pulverize the runner.

B. U. Grid Squad Tries Night Workout

Boston University tries a new practice tactic tonight when Pat Hanley starts his Terriers' workout at 8:15 at Nickerson Field.

Donation of four new lights makes it possible for Coach Pat to solve the Tuesday practice headache. Late classes on that day make it difficult for all the squad to work out. So the boys will have dinner, relax for an hour or more, then go to work.

Art Lesieur Joins Hornet Sextet

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 15 (AP)—The Pittsburgh hockey Hornets today obtained Art Lesieur, 220-pound defense man, from the Providence Reds in a straight trade for Babe Tapin, who plays defense and on the line. Lesieur has captained the Reds for several seasons.

Osmanski Out Of NYU Game

WORCESTER, Oct. 15 (AP)—Holy Cross scrimmaged its reserves as the Crusaders opened preparations for Saturday's football game with New York University.

While the varsity restricted its work chiefly to signals, Coach Joe Sheeketski groomed Jim Scondras, hitherto a sophomore fourth-stringer, for starting duty at right half. Scondras moved up to the first team to replace Joe Osmanski, who aggravated his old leg injury Saturday and is not expected to see much action against N. Y. U.

'LITTLE THREE' ENJOY BANNER GRID SEASON

While there may be plenty of weeping and wailing about the decline of Ivy League here in New England, the smaller circuits as such as the Little Three and the Maine State League are enjoying banner seasons.

In the Little Three, Amherst has lost just one game and that was to Harvard by a pair of touchdowns after the Crimson had been extended to the limit. Williams has only one blot on its record—a 20 to 19 loss to Army, a moral victory. Wesleyan is the only disappointment, but the Cardinals, on paper, are supposed to be the best of the trio and may get rolling at any time.

Down in Maine, there threatens to be one of the closest battles that old state has ever seen for there is very little to choose between Bowdoin, Maine, Bates and Colby.

BOWDOIN FAILS DOPE

Bowdoin was conceded the preseason edge on manpower but the Polar Bears have been stopped by Amherst and Tufts which whittles them right down to the others. Colby was the surprise team and is undefeated to date but Al McCoy is in for trouble fromn now on out.

The White Mules lost little Johnny Daggett last Saturday when this 180 pound "scat" back had his shoulder broken. Daggett was the spearhead of the Colby attack and will be sorely missed.

But even without Daggett, the Mules will be in there battling all the way a week from Saturday when the state series opens with Colby meeting Bowdoin and Maine tangling with Bates.

AMHERST FACES WESLEYAN

On the same dates as the opening of the Maine series, the first of the Little Three frays gets underway with Amherst facing Wesleyan.

But these games are a week from Saturday and each of these schools are now primarily concerned with next Saturday where some of them will take it easy and others will have it mighty tough.

In the Little Three, Wesleyan shouldn't have a great deal of trouble with Haverford and Amherst will not find Rochester really bothersome but Williams is in for a real afternoon when the Purple stacks up against Bowdoin.

COLBY SHOULD WIN

Colby should stay undefeated another week even without Daggett for in Middlebury the Mules meet a foe that has shown very little to date. Bowdoin has a tough customer in Williams while Bates and Maine are both in for close ball games.

Bates comes down to Boston to meet Northeastern and this game shapes up so even on paper that a toss of the coin would be as effective a way as any to predict a winner.

14 Bouts End By Knockout

Fourteen knockouts, six of which occurred in the finals, gave some 2000 fans plenty of thrills in the third elimination series of the Golden Gloves amateur boxing tourney held last night at the Garden.

Welterweight Tommy Earle of Bourne and Mike Cocozza, Haverhill, easily copped the honors for the best bout of the night, with the decision, a close one, going to Earle.

Both boys fought hammer and tongs from the opening gong and didn't let up until the final one. Although a few boohs were heard, the decision was a just one.

Tommy Sullivan, 175-pounder, won his final in the easiest possible fashion when his scheduled opponent, Tony Buckley, was forced to bow out with a broken thumb.

112-Pound Class—Tony Peppi, Boston, knocked out George Katsekas, Manchester, N. H., 1 round.

118-Pound Class—Paul Banga, Cambridge, knocked out Ed Jones, Cambridge, 1 round.

135-Pound Class—George Beckles, Cambridge, knocked out Phil Crulla, South Boston, 1 round.

147-Pound Class—Fred Earle, Bourne, defeated Mike Cocozza, Haverhill, 3 rounds.

165-Pound Class — Lo Strain, Revere, knocked out Ed Tuckin, Cambridge, 2 rounds.

B. C. Coach Refuses To Coast With Idaho

Today the grind of preparation begins in earnest once again for the Boston College grid squad—all of it this time. Yesterday nearly half the varsity squad was permitted to enjoy an off day. The other half wrestled the big frosh team in a two hour scrimmage.

Though the opposition come Saturday next is none other than the much defeated Vandals of Idaho University, Head Coach Frank Leahy intends to take no chances. His squad, starting this afternoon, will fully realize the mentor's sentiments by nightfall.

REMEMBER FLORIDA IN '39?

"We've worked hard for the prestige which has come to us via of our victories over Tulane and Temple," said Leahy this morning. "We don't intend an upset to deprive us of it." The successful young tutor was probably thinking of the year 1939 and a team called Florida.

If, as the case will probably be, the Eagles are able to set the Vandals back on their haunches early in the game the Leahy reserves will be given lots of employment. It was against the substitutes that Temple was so successful. Even the second team, which did so well in the Tulane fracas, was off its game. The spares will get a chance to redeem themselves against Idaho.

Fellows like Justin McGowan, Bob Jauron, Ralph Nash and Carl Lucas, all of whom have shown tremendous improvement in recent practices but who just couldn't get started in last week's contest, are the gentlemen most likely to see much service—assuming of course that the Vandals continue the type of game that has permitted three early season opponents nearly 100 points across their goal.

JAURON MAY HELP YET

McGowan and Jauron, juniors from New Hampshire, are just like the girl who was often a bridesmaid but never a bride. Justin and Bob, buddies and roommates, have ben hovering on the brink of greatness for two seasons now. When they do hit their true stride some of the present first string backs may have to look for seats on the bench.

Jauron, as has been the case for two seasons now, is potentially the best back on the squad. The fastest man on the squad, Bob can pass, kick and run. In practice this rugged 186 pounder from Nashua, N. H. is a wizard. In game competition there is something lacking.

"When he hits his stride he'll be a big help to us," Coach Leahy has often said.

Fading Dartmouth Revived by Return Of Ex-Frosh Star

HANOVER, N. H., Oct. 15 (AP)—Fading Dartmouth football hopes were revived when sophomore John Koslowski, first strong blocking back on the freshman eleven last year, reported for varsity football practice for the first time.

Koslowski, who was hurt in aprin drills, finally gained medical approval to join the gridiron squad and in his first workout ran signals with the second eleven.

Yesterday's workout was light as Coach Earl Blaik started drills on a new offensive to be used next Saturday against Yale.

Jim Jefferson Made Regular

Jim Jefferson of Belmont, biggest man on the Northeastern football squad, may have won himself a starting tackle berth as the result of a sensational defensive showing against Springfield last Saturday. Moving pictures of the game reveal Jim as one of the unsung heroes of the varsity triumph.

The Belmont boy who stands 6 feet 3½ and who played no football before coming to Northeastern, has been used exclusively as a reserve, but he probably will replace sophomore Ed Jensen against Bates this week.

The blocking back position still is giving Coach Jimmy Dunn plenty of trouble since he is having a tough time choosing between Phil Sheridan and Gunnar Myrbeck. Sheridan has a slight edge because his experience makes him more effective on defensive.

The Huskies are adding several new plays to their repertoire this week in preparation for the battle with the Bobcats. Bates looked very strong in beating Tufts last week and the Huskies know that they will need all their guns.

The return of Art Handler of Brookline to the tackle squad should help the defensive considerably. Handler was not available last Saturday and the Huskies lacked depth in this department.

Jannazzo Claimant To Welter Title

BALTIMORE, Oct. 15 (AP)—Izzy Jannazzo of New York, whose left hand packs artistry and poison, was acclaimed in Maryland today as the welterweight king—the second "champion" crowned by this State since it decided to go independently down the boxing byways.

Jannazzo won the Maryland boxing commission's recognition as welterweight champion by gaining a close decision over Louis (Kid) Cocoa of Puerto Rico and New Haven in a 15-round bout that was mostly an exhibition of left hands. Both weighed 147 pounds.

CONVERTED—Starting his collegiate career as a back at Dartmouth, Robert Krieger was converted into an end by Coach Earl Blaik. He still gets plenty of chance to carry the pigskin, for Blaik has several plays built around him as ball carrier. He is always a threat for an end around play.

AYRES RETURNS FOR ARMY

The entire Harvard team came out of the Michigan contest in good shape and Dick Harlow will be able to point for his first major win of the season with all hands available with the exception of Don McNicol, who is still on the sidelines.

Harlow sent his first string men through a short workout and then sent the subs against the jayvees in a long scrimmage. Joel Ferris kept tearing the scrubs' line apart and drew favorable comment from the coaches.

AYRES RETURNS

It was announced that Burgy Ayres, regular center, would return to the lineup this week after a long time on the side lines as a result of a leg injury. Dick Harlow stated that he might not scrimmage his team any more this week because of fear of injuries.

The Ivy League is in a pretty sad state at the present time, but the Harvard-Army game is always a headline attraction.

CADETS ARRIVE SATURDAY

The Cadet corps of 1000 will arrive at the Huntington ave. yards on Saturday at 10:30 and march to the Park st. subway station. They will enter the Stadium at 1:15.

Army received a trouncing from Cornell, but Henry Mazur was not in the lineups for the Cadets. He was in the infirmary with a bad cold, but will probably be in the starting lineup against the Crimson. Frank Leahy considers Mazur one of the finest backs he ever had the privilege to coach. Mazur was a standout on the B. C. frosh two years ago.

HERSHEY GETS PLAYER

HERSHEY, Pa., Oct. 1 (AP)—The Hershey Bears of the American Hockey League announced tonight the acquisition of Johnny "Red" Doran of Toronto, defenseman with the Providence Reds.

TERRIERS REVAMPED FOR CINCY BATTLE

Boston University will present a completely revamped backfield when it takes the field against the powerful University of Cincinnati eleven at Weston next Saturday.

Injuries and disappointing performances against Manhattan last Friday night has resulted in a wholesale backfield shakeup which may find four new faces in the starting lineup.

Thomas and Burnell have started one game this fall but the others will be making their first start.

Pantano is a seasoned senior signal caller, who alternated a starting with Johnny Connearney last year but Connearney got the call in all three games this fall. Pantano steps into the quarterback role next Saturday and with a satisfactory performance, may be a hard man to get out of there again this season.

HENRY UNDER KNIFE

NEW YORK, Oct. 15 (INS)—Fighter Henry Armstrong was to be operated on today for the removal of excess scar tissue over his eyes which his handlers feel has made him readily vulnerable to excessive cutting and bleeding in his recent bouts.
